Area fire departments hold open houses

Reporter.Bill@PatriotNewsMN.com

The Becker and Big Lake Fire Departments both held their annual Open Houses this past weekend on beautiful Autumn days.

Becker FD

The Becker firefighters held their open house Saturday in which they had North Memorial Air Care land an air ambulance outside the parking area of the station. They also had a bouncy house for the kids, free truck rides, food and drinks and lots of other activities and demonstrations throughout the day.

In one area just outside the building, firefighters took turns to allow children the chance to squeeze the trigger of a fire hose to simulate putting out a fire. At the air ambulance, kids and parents got to get a close-up view of the cockpit of the chopper and even take a seat inside the whirlybird. A few fire trucks were also

Burning restrictions lifted statewide

Submitted article

(Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Minnesota DNR.)

Recent rain and a return of near-normal temperatures and higher evening humidity have greatly reduced the chance of campfires or open burning causing a wildfire in Cook and Lake counties.

In response, the DNR removed burning restrictions in those counties on Sept. 21. Cook and Lake counties were the last two Minnesota counties under DNR-mandated burning restrictions.

The DNR will continue to monitor conditions and will reinstate county-specific burning restrictions if necessary. Of upmost importance is protecting the health and safety of the

She hopes to work with the board as a team in order to address gaps in service to the students, find new opportunities for both special education and

She has four kids of her own in the school district, plus another student, who is a friend's child, who is staying with the family for a time. Becker School Board discusses policy changes

By Katherine Cantin, Staff Writer Reporter.Katie@PatriotNewsMN.com

FDIC

At the Becker School Board October meeting, during open forum, BHS Senior Austin Clemen spoke before the board regarding policy 470, which regards political activities in the school. He was concerned that symbols of civil rights (such as the pride flag, etc.) could be construed as political in nature according to the definition and therefore not be allowed in classrooms.

Board Member Mark Swanson stated that he had previously made the superintendent aware of these issues while reviewing another policy, and he felt that Clemen's comments were right in line with the changes he hoped to see in the policy. He thanked Clemen for bringing his opinions as a student before the board.

Board Member Ryan Obermoller made a motion to remove policy revisions of both policy 470 and policy 524 (regarding social media) pending further information from the school's attorney. The motion passed.

During his report, Supt. Jeremy Schmidt also revealed that MSBA (Minnesota School Board Association) is expecting to make some policy changes in this area as well, according to advice from their attorney.

Student Report

The student council representatives reported a successful homecoming week, with high participation in the students' dress-up days.

This week, the students have organized some "Tackle Cancer" events for the student body, culminating in the "Tackle Cancer" football game Friday, Oct. 8.

Superintendent's

Report The school applied for a COVID-19 testing grant which would cover part or all of the costs of testing staff for COVID-19. The school also ordered some 15-minute tests and created a position for a "Testing Technician" to coordinate the testing of Schmidt mentioned upcoming MSBA events and possible policy changes.

There will be an open house to provide information about the upcoming referendum election at the High School Commons Oct. 12 from 5:30-7 p.m. More information is available at the website, BulldogsStrong. com. There will be a representative there who can tell residents the exact tax impact the referendum would make on their property (this tool is also available online.)

Becker Early

Childhood

Sue Hiltner, Coordinator for Becker Early Childhood, and Melissa Dumont, a school readiness and ECFE teacher, and Laura Garding, a paraprofessional, all helped to give a presentation on the ECFE program and the impact the referendum would have on the program. Children aged infants to three-year-olds attend ECFE classes, while four-year-olds attend school readiness classes. Between 120-150 students attend these programs, along with their parents. About 85% of all Becker kindergartners attended the school readiness program. There are also special education programs for 3-5 year olds.

While tuition has increased the last few years, they have a policy that no family is turned away due to inability to pay. There are scholarships for a limited number of students as well. Part of the referendum would really help the early childhood area to grow. It would allow the early childhood classes to be grouped together, rather than having two classrooms in a different area. It would also give them the opportunity to accept more students into the programs, as they are currently turning away some of the youngest toddlers and infants.

Question two would tackle the aspects that the board deemed to be more controversial in their research, including the question of adding artificial turf on Eppard Field, creating more space for the early childhood Camp Opportunity program, and turning the bus garages into a multi-purpose space. Project architect Mark Lenz stated that some other changes were made to the plan as well, to make it more appealing to the voters.

How Much is Too Much?

When I was a kid. I would often grab one dollar, bike up to Bolla's bait shop across town (was Becker big enough to bike "across"?) and buy three Daredevils. From there, it was a short ride down then Co. Rd. 4 to the "one mile" bridge where I would spend countless hours casting in the Elk River for whatever would bite. On really adventurous days, I'd bike down County Road 23 to the "two mile" and on a rare occasion, I even made it to County Road 11 to try the "three mile".

Often, the lazy waters of the Elk would provide the chance at a Red Horse or a Northern Pike, the perfect species for a kid because they provided a mighty fight. Other times, I would bike back home without any fish but with some great tales of close encounters with snapping turtles

Whether or not I caught any fish, I would always go home empty-handed when it came to Daredevils, because between fish stripping the lures off my line and the snagging of branches in the trees lining the river banks, the end of my fishing experience usually coincided with running out of lures.

Thinking back to those times makes me really ponder how much has changed in the world of the great outdoors. I wonder what it would be like if the Elk River was still accessible and fishable. Would the resource be able to support the increase in technology that has permeated every corner of the hunting and fishing market?

How much technology is too much technology

Contributing Writer

when it comes to hunting and fishing?

I'll admit I am a bit old school and haven't invested in depth finders that cost thousands of dollars and seemingly mark the exact sizes and locations of fish (how long until the machine also tells us what they are hungry for?). I have also shunned buying motorized decoys for duck hunting and haven't yet decided to purchase a newer version of my old Vexilar.

Maybe it's an excuse for not being great at any hunting or fishing activity, but I just prefer to be in the woods, or on the lake, and am less interested in the technology side of things than I am in seeing something cool that nature has to

Don't get me wrong, I enjoy catching fish and harvesting a turkey or a deer, etc., but I haven't been able to fully embrace all of the technological advances that come along.

When it comes to deer hunting, I only now use a muzzleloader. It's way more of a challenge and I enjoy the peace and solitude of the late season hunt without seeing an army of orange coats in the field.

This year, however, I did make the leap into the 21st century and purchased a trail camera that hooks up to my cell phone. I know they have been around for several years, but I just wasn't sure how I felt about tracking the every move of wildlife near my stand in real time. It took me a few years, but when enough of my friends were sharing their photos with me, it piqued my interest and I decided to give it a try.

So far, I'm very happy with the decision and it's not breaking the bank. The camera itself was reasonable and I can get hundreds of pictures sent to my phone for less than $15 a month. Besides, there's no contract with the cell company and with the toggle of an online switch, I can turn the camera off and pay nothing.

I still don't have an answer for how much technology is too much when it comes to fishing and hunting, but I have a feeling that once I have the ability to sit in my driveway and launch my boat drone, that might be the time I call it quits.

If it gets that bad, I'll grab $20 bucks and head to the megastore to buy one Daredevil. With my luck, I'll lose it on the first cast.

Chilling Words -

"We've been patient, but our patience is wearing thin." These words, spoken by President Joe Biden recently, were aimed at the millions of Americans who have not received the coronavirus vaccine. They're the most chilling words I've ever heard spoken, sounding exactly like what they are, a threat to those who remain unvaccinated.

The government is doing what they can to force everyone to get the vaccine, including shaming and demeaning the unvaccinated and threatening a vaccine passport that will be needed in order for American citizens to go out and be a part of society. Some cities and states have already

I can't believe how many people are in favor of making the COVID vaccine mandatory. The more power government is given the easier it is for them to take away the next freedom, and the next. Don't believe me? Take a look back in history. Take a look at what's happening in Australia today. Is that the way you want to live?

If the vaccine is as effective as claimed, then the people who've gotten it should be safe from the unvaccinated, so why is the government trying so hard to force everyone to get it? In fact, vaccinated doesn't equal safe. People who have been vaccinated are getting COVID right along with those who haven't been.

This debate is creating an even larger division in our already divided country. Red/blue, vaccinated/unvaccinated. The level of hate and anger I've seen displayed even between people who are supposed to be friends is mind-boggling. Being an American, heck, just being a human being, shouldn't mean hating those who think, believe, or look the same way you do.

It doesn't look like it's going to get better anytime

Can the government force citizens to receive the coronavirus vaccination against their will? Not specifically, but they can impose severe consequences for those that refuse. In fact, they already have. The President is requiring millions of workers to get vaccinated or be tested weekly. States, businesses, and organizations are starting to require inoculation or risk losing your job.

Thousands are choosing the latter, and unfortunately many of them are our frontline workers who we're already in short supply of health care workers, police officers, and first responders.

How is anyone okay with this?

I'm not an anti-vaxxer. My children all received their vaccinations at the recommended times, and in fact, belong to the first generation to receive the chicken pox (varicella) and HPV (human papillomavirus). A couple of weeks ago I went in to get the flu and shingles shots.

I'm not anti-vax, I'm pro-choice and pro-privacy. Everyone should have the choice to talk to their doctor and then make the decision that they're the most comfortable with, and everyone should have the right to medical privacy.

I don't blame people for being concerned about this new vaccine. It's less than a year old, not tested over many years like other vaccines have been before being released to the public. People are afraid of putting something into their bodies when there's been no opportunity for studies on the long-term effects.

This debate isn't really about a vaccine, it's about loss of personal freedom. If the government is allowed to tell people what they can do with their bodies what are they going to be allowed to do next? Being an American comes with the freedom of choice. If that freedom is taken away then it's not the America I want to live in. And sadly, some out there will say, "Good riddance."

So am I vaccinated? That decision is mine, and what I've chosen is no one's business except for my own.

Becker Schools: Remember to Vote! -

(Editor's Note: The following column was submitted by Becker Public Schools.)

This November, the ISD 726 School Board is asking residents to consider two questions to improve Becker's schools:

Question 1 would improve safety and infrastructure, improve spaces for Career and Technical Education (CTE) and other educational spaces, provide more space for our students across all grade levels — including Early Childhood and School Readiness programming, and address other District-related needs including building a new transportation facility.

Question 2 would provide more space to serve our Early Childhood's Camp Opportunity program, renovate the existing vehicle maintenance area to serve as a multi-purpose space, make other District-related improvements including Furniture, Fixtures, and Equipment (FFE), athletics lighting, and multi-purpose field. Question 2 is contingent on the successful passage of question 1.

Due to expiring debt, if question 1 is approved, there would be a $0 net tax increase to District residents above the current tax rate. If both questions 1 and 2 are approved, the tax impact on a $200,000 residential home in the District would be about $2.25 a month. Find out your tax impact at BulldogsStrong. com/cost.

Make sure your vote is counted by voting early in person at the District Office from 8:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. through Monday, November 1. Early voting is also available at home via absentee ballot. Visit BulldogsStrong. com/vote for more information and don't forget to vote on or before Tuesday, No-able to stay in their rental properties without consequence for late payment or damage throughout the pandemic, the eviction off-ramp will change things rather quickly. Housing providers have had issues with the eviction moratorium, losing income, and potentially having their property destroyed by unruly tenants they were unable to evict.

Minnesota received significant federal funding for renters to pay their back rent and avoid issues with their housing. With $672 million flooding our state, however, the RentHelpMN program is taking an unacceptably long time to get out the money to these Minnesotans in need. Inflation is taking over our state with the price of housing exceeding the cost acceptable to meet their everyday needs. Battling the Opioid Epidemic

(Editor's Note: The following column was submitted by Rep. Tom Emmer.)

Last week, we hosted our latest town hall in Montrose. It was great to see so many of you in person and have an opportunity to discuss the issues impacting Minnesota's families. We covered several important topics during the town hall, one of which focused on the effects of the devastating drought our agriculture community has faced this year. As we recognized National Farmer's Day Tuesday, I hope all of you took a moment to appreciate the dedication of Minnesota's ag community and all the hardworking families who keep food on our shelves, and tables.

Our farmers face extraordinary challenges each and every day. Please take a moment to thank a member of our ag community today (or make an effort to get to know someone) and keep them in mind the next time you head to the grocery store or go out to eat.

We have another busy week ahead. I'm off to Washington for votes today but I hope you will read on to learn more about what we're doing to support Minnesotans.

Fighting the Opioid Epidemic

For decades, our nation has been battling the opioid epidemic, which has claimed over 500,000 American lives.

Recently, I learned that the currently proposed criteria for medical reimbursement could limit patients' ability to access epidurals and other non-opioid forms of pain-management. The current proposal sets forth criteria which will significantly reduce the use of epidural injections and fails to consider the previously eligible patients in desperate need of pain management who depend on this procedure.

Why is this important? Epidurals are an important form of pain management that avoid the use of opioids that otherwise can become habit forming or are susceptible to abuse.

Last week, I sent a letter to Tamara Syrek Jensen, the Director of the Coverage and Analysis Group for the Centers for Clinical Standards and Quality, and Dr. Stephen Boren, the Medical Director for National Government Services to share my concern regarding the proposed local coverage determination (LCD) for epidural interventions and other non-opioid forms of pain-management. Many of us know someone who has been impacted by the ongoing opioid epidemic. That is why I believe the federal government must reverse course and not limit the use of non-opioid interventional pain-management techniques. There is much more to be done on the war against opioid abuse, and we will continue to do our part to ensure medical providers and patients have a range of options to choose from when determining the best way to manage pain. Supporting Local News

Recently, I joined local radio and television broadcasters as part of the Minnesota Broadcasters Association's Annual Meeting. Membership When the pandemic hit, our commutes to work may have stopped, but we continued to tune in to local TV and radio stations to stay connected to the shows we love, and to learn about lifesaving COVID-19 in-

In Congress, I launched the Congressional Broadcasters Caucus to give these broadcasters a voice in the federal government. As a former radio show host, I have seen how local broadcasts bring people together, keep communities informed, and serve as a marketplace for ideas and discussion.

This Congress, I am supporting the Local Radio Freedom Act which opposes new fees or taxes on local, free, broadcast radio which could jeopardize those very services upon which so many rely. This industry has been a vital resource for the last century, especially these past two years, and I will continue to do what I can to preserve local radio and TV.

It was great to spend time with some of Minnesota's best and brightest broadcasters.

FUN FALL EVENT. Children and their families enjoyed a fall event last weekend at Norm's Farm Market. Pictured: Briar, Grady, Valerie and Matt Friedrich of Becker enjoying the great outdoors at Norm's Farm Market. Norm's pumpkin patch was available, as well as corn play tables and fun games for the entire family. The event also featured local food trucks such as The Kettle Shack (kettle corn and fresh squeezed lemonade) and Mac's Mini's food truck serving up fresh, warm mini donuts. Norm's Farm Market trailer was stocked with locally made baked goods, canned goods, and spices. Norm's Farm Market will remain open through October selling potatoes, onions and squash (in bulk), as well as local jams, honey, syrup, wild rice, pie pumpkins, carving pumpkins, Indian corn and many other items were also for sale. Clearwater's Sam Samuelson receives community service award

By Penny Leuthard, Contributing Writer

Clearwater resident Sam (Leonard) Samuelson was awarded the 2020 Mike Gifford Community Service Award this past summer for all the ways he's given back to his community over the years.

The award was presented by APi, the company that owns the Garage Door Co. where Samuelson has been employed for 35 years. The award was started in 2016 in honor of Mike Gifford, a vice president of another of APi's companies who, along with numerous other volunteer work, founded and runs the nationwide charitable organization, Living With A Cause. Gifford was the inaugural winner of the award.

According to APi, 'This award honors an individual who truly embodies what it means to live life with a cause greater than oneself every moment of every day."

This past spring Samuelson was named as one of three finalists, all who were nominated for the award by the presidents of their respective companies. During APi Group's annual Leadership Summit in June Samuelson was announced as the winner.

"I was very honored and humbled by the award," said Samuelson. Especially when you think about all the people who work for the company."

Samuelson began donating his time and talents in the community with the Clear Lake Area Youth Baseball Association (CLAYBA). Along with being a head coach for the league, he was president from 1998 to 2008. As lead fundraiser he approached

Most kids and young adults in the community refer to Samuelson as "coach", as he has coached youth baseball, hockey, football, and basketball for 25 years. He also started full pad football for the fifth and sixth graders with bor-

Samuelson also served on the Clearview Elementary School Site Council. He was instrumental in the building of four new Little League baseball fields, a concession stand, and a playground behind Clearview School. Samuelson's service doesn't just include organizations. Two years ago a relative was in desperate fear of her son committing suicide. The son had a felony conviction for drugs, a ninth grade education, and was $5,000 behind on child support. Samuelson took him into his home and helped him obtain employment. He's since been working at the job for over a year, is paying back child support, and should be off probation soon. Most importantly, he's now looking forward to the future.

Samuelson's community service work doesn't look to be slowing down any time soon. In fact, his two young granddaughters have already started playing hockey and basketball, and there is now speculation if "Coach Sam" is in for another round.

Veldman optimistic despite third injury

Bv Bill Moraan Editor/Staff Writer Reporter.Bill@PatriotNewsMN.com

Michael Veldman is just the type of quarterback every coach dreams about. Great size, quick release, strong arm and he's a winner. All those qualities helped him make the leap from successful high school quarterback to QB at Division III Gustavus Adolphus College.

Veldman has spent seven seasons in football beyond high school, six with Gustavus. He has battled through injuries and even a season thrown away because of COVID-19, but he's never given up. This year, Veldman was on the cusp of becoming the alltime passing yards leader for the Gusties, needing 414 yards to dethrone Jordan Stolp (2004-07) as the record holder.

In the Gusties' second game of the year against Wartburg Sept. 11 and on Gustavus's first possession of the third quarter, (trailing 10-7), Veldman found Matthew Kipper for a 77-yard touchdown. The 77-yard strike made Veldman the Gustavus football program's all-time passing yards leader, surpassing Stolp.

Veldman is also the program's record holder for career passing touchdowns with 87.

However, in Gustavus' third game of the season against Concordia and on the first series, Veldman suffered a Lisfranc injury in his right foot that required season-ending sur-

The Lisfranc joint is the point at which the metatarsal bones (long bones that lead up to the toes) and the tarsal bones (bones in the arch) connect. The Lisfranc ligament is a tough band of tissue that joins two of these bones.

Injuries to the Lisfranc joint most commonly occur in automobile accident victims, military personnel, runners, horseback riders, football players and participants of other contact sports, or something as simple as missing a step on a staircase. Lisfranc injuries occur as a result of direct or indirect forces to the foot. A direct force often involves something heavy falling on the foot. Indirect force commonly involves twisting the foot.

"It may have been me planting my foot or someone stepping on it," said Veldman. "After watching film, I can't pinpoint the exact play it happened. I gery.

"The doctor said this injury was relatively minor in severity compared to others he has seen," said Veldman. "There weren't any displaced bones." Veldman has risen above his injuries and has stayed level-headed through his successes throughout his football career. He guided the Becker Bulldogs to a state championship in 2014 and the next fall, joined North Dakota State and as a freshman was redshirted and began practicing at a position that included current NFL quarterback Carson Wentz, who would eventually get drafted to the NFL. After transferring to Gustavus knowing another freshman was most likely going to take Wentz's spot, Veldman took the QB reins but was injured in the second game of the 2016 season when he fell awkwardly and broke his right wrist of his throwing arm.

That ended his inaugural season.

In the fifth game of the 2017 season, he was injured again when he hit a defender's helmet after releasing a pass and broke a knuckle on his throwing hand. Ugh. Season done.

However, he played in all 10 games of both the 2018 and 2019 seasons and was named first-team all-conference after setting passing records.

Coming into the 2021 season, Veldman — at 6'4" and 210 pounds — was the only Division III quarterback to throw at least three touchdown passes in all 10 games of the 2019 season. He finished the year 219of-319 (68.7 percent) with 39 touchdowns, ranking first in the MIAC and third in the nation, and set a new Gustavus single season record. Veldman's 68.7-completion percentage is the top single-season mark in program history, while his 185.4 passing efficiency was best in the MIAC and fifth in the nation. He was responsible for 280 points, the second most in Division III, leading the Gusties to a program-record 448 total points. His 3,188 passing yards were fourth in the nation. In 29 career games at Gustavus, Veldman ranked first in touchdowns with 78, third in pass yards with 8,084, and third in completions with 584 (which he has surpassed in the twoplus games of this year).

Veldman still has dreams to get invited to an NFL camp and aspires to don an NFL jersey just like his father (Gregg, Cowboys) and brother (Matt, Lions, Redskins, Jaguars) have done in the past.

Veldman's latest injury hasn't ended his dream for the next level and he plans to work hard to rehab, get back to 100% and showcase himself for NFL scouts at a pro day somewhere.

"My overall goal right now is to bounce back from this and hopefully still have a chance at playing some ball at the higher level," said Michael. "I'll rehab, stick with the team and help with the QBs and do some lifting to get stronger. I have to do what I've always done in my career - attack. Attack the day and attack this setback and hopefully still realize my

He said scouts from the Vikings and Bears have visited the Gustavus campus to watch him work out.

Veldman has a business management degree but hopes he won't have to fall back on that too soon.

"I've got a great family and a great support system that has been encouraging me every day," said Veldman. "It's gonna be a process but their confidence in me helps me get through this kind of thing."

"It doesn't do any good to stay down."

The old adage says that a team wants to peak at the right time and it appears that could be the case for the Becker Bulldog boys soccer team and coach Nick Crowley. After starting out the season with a string of losses, the team turned things around and put together a nice win streak. As a reward. they earned a #5 seed in the section playoffs and traveled to Rockford for a Thursday night matchup with the #4 seed Rockets.

"Having lost to them earlier in the season 6-2, we are looking to flip the result around," Crowley says.

Willmar drew the top seed in the section and will face the Big Lake Hornets, meaning a Bulldog upset of the Rockets will draw a contest with the winner of that

As the second half started, the Royals changed tactics and came out with additional energy. Much of the game went back and forth, but with a brief period where the Bulldogs weren't able to get out of their half.

"There are moments in every game where you have to weather a period of low possession or conceding shots, and we did well," Crowley said.

In the extra period, goalkeeper Nick Gruber kept the Bulldogs in it with some huge saves. "They peppered us from Go Small in the Fall for More Walleyes!

The old saying is "go big in the fall" for big fish. Well, that's kinda true. Most do not have the guts to admit it – going small will catch you a ton more walleyes in the Fall – and that's what anglers want. Pay attention Mille Lacs folks. The fact is, people come to Minnesota to catch and eat walleyes. After over 5,000 guide trips — that's a fact! If anglers catch a bonus trophy walleye — great! But, the majority of the anglers would much rather catch a bunch of walleyes verses one big one! If you want to catch a large amount of walleyes throughout a day — then go small.

Each year, the Spring hatching patterns are controlled by weather, lake water temps, moon/ calander phases, etc. Long story short, even after a long growing season, the majority of baitfish are not that large. I'm talking crappies, walleyes, 'gills many of the species anglers are after. The baitfish these fish are pursuing are not big! Half inch up to two inches on average — especially now a days. Cataract surgery is one of the more frequently performed surgeries in the United States. The reason for this is that it is a normal consequence of aging. The natural lens in the eye is clear at birth, and becomes cloudier over the years. At age 75, about 50% of people have had cataract surgery, and most people require it during their life, but it's not possible to predict when. It's nothing to fear, it is a painless outpatient operation. If you are having blurry vision, you should schedule an appointment for evaluation. Netters pick up first M8 win

By Mark Kolbinger, Contributing Writer

Last Thursday, the Becker Bulldog volleyball team hosted St. Francis and celebrated their annual "Pink Out" game by picking up its first M8 Conference win of the season, 3-2, over the Saints.

"What a great way to celebrate our pink out by getting the team's first conference win," said coach Patty Lindbom.

The pink out theme has become a common way that high school sports are showing solidarity with those in society who have had to battle against cancer. Against the Saints, the Bulldogs' flashy style matched their offensive performance, as they put together their best overall team performance of the conference season.

Game scores for the evening showed the Bulldogs nabbing the win, 25-16, 22-25. 14-25, 26-24 and 15-6.

Lindbom's team showed excellent offensive balance, as Cami Ramola led the way with 14 kills, while Evelyn Kreft contributed 12 in a .385 hitting performance. Alexa Williams added nine kills for the Bulldogs, while Alexis Goebel had seven.

Setting up the hitters all night was Maya Wenner, who netted 34 assists and kept the offense running smoothly.

Defensively, the Bulldogs had four blocks apiece from Goebel and Kreft as the pair showed fortitude at the net all night long. Lily Dewall had 15 digs and Alexa Williams added 19.

Thunder

Monday, evening, the squad put together another nice overall effort and came away with a 3-1 win over the Zimmerman Thunder.

After falling 23-25 in the opening set, the Bulldogs came roaring back and swept the next three by scores of 25-23, 25-18 and 25-18 for the team's second win in a row.

As a team, the Bulldogs picked up 14 ace serves and 44 kills for an overall excellent offensive effort.

Kreft and Ramola paced the hitting attack with 10 kills apiece, while Ramola added four ace serves and 11 digs.

Williams had a nice all around match, scoring seven kills and three ace serves, while Maya Wenner continued her steady performance at the setter position with 30 assists, three digs, two blocks and four kills.

Other performers included Alexis Goebel with five kills, Dewall with 10 digs, Lily Berger with five kills, Taylor Storlien with four assists and two digs, Skylee Blomquist with 10 digs and Kate Mehelich with nine digs.

Tuesday night, Becker traced the Buffalo Bison and fell behind quickly 2-0 by scores of 25-15 and 25-16. The Bulldogs battled back, however, for an exciting 28-26 win in the third game and seemed to regain some momentum. The fourth game ended in the Bison's favor, 25-14, and Buffalo picking up the Bulldog swimmers, divers end regular season

By Mark Kolbinger, Contributing Writer

The Becker Bulldog swimming and diving team finished up its regular season in the past week with a win over Cambridge-Isanti and a loss to the Monticello Magic.

With the split, Becker finished the dual meet portion of the season with a record of 7-3 and some major momentum heading into the playoff portion of the schedule.

Bluejackets

In last week Thursday's win over Cambridge-Isanti, Becker took first in every event to run away with the impressive victory.

"The girls swam very well tonight," coach Tina Tamm said after the meet. "Taking first place in every event showed a great overall team effort."

The Bulldogs were impressive in the relay events, as Laila Cook, Grace Wynia, Delaney Varney and Avary Maunu won the 200 Medley, while Tia Schaap, Sarah Woelfel, Grace Wynia and Meghan Swanson placed first in the 200 freestyle relay.

In the 400 freestyle relay, it was Maunu, Schaap, Varney and Cook who brought home the victory for the Bulldogs.

Varney also picked up a pair of wins in individual events (200 freestyle and 100 butterfly), as did

Meghan Swanson (500 freestyle and 50 freestyle). Cook became the third Bulldog with a pair of individual wins, as she finished first in the 200 Individual Medley and the 100 back-

Schapp finished first in the 100 freestyle, while Wynia topped the pack in the 100 breaststroke for the Bulldogs, who also picked up the win in diving behind a strong performance from Sarah Woelfel.

In Tuesday's loss to Monticello in the regular season finale, the Bulldogs took the opportunity to let the girls try some new events. It serves as a chance for the swimmers to experiment with something new they would like to try and gain some valuable experience.

'In going to Monticello, we know it's going to be tough to win so this is the one meet a year when the girls swim 'off' events and they get a break from their usual events," Tamm said. "It gives them a chance to try a different event and see how they do."

We ended the regular season with a record of 7-3 and the girls are ready to head into the postseason," Tamm said.

Becker was scheduled to host the True Team meet on Friday and Saturday (Oct 15 & 16), while the following weeks will be spent getting the team ready for Sections.

"Next week we will start training for the Section meet that will be held here in Becker from November 11 to the 13th," Tamm

Bulldog Tennis upsets Falcons, advances to Section final four

By Mark Kolbinger, Contributing Writer

It took a total team effort last Thursday evening and nearly three hours, but the Becker girls tennis team knocked off perennial power Foley by a score of 4-3 to earn the chance to play in the Section Final Four and a chance at the state tennis tournament. The win avenged an early season loss to the Falcons, who had handily defeated the Bulldogs 6-1.

"The girls really have been playing their best tennis, and that was the case on Thursday night," Coach Nate Bucher said. "We always have really great competitions against Foley and even though they won our first meeting at the very beginning of the season 6-1, both teams always know it could end up in the other team's favor on another night."

In the south sub-section finals win over the Falcons, Becker was able to win three singles matchups that each went three sets. The match itself started at 7:30 p.m. and didn't end until 10:17 p.m. at the Sartell Sta-Fit tennis bubble.

Number two player Ayla Brown won a 6-4, 3-6, 6-0 match to give Becker its first singles victory, followed by Dani Nuest's come from behind, 6-7, 7-6, 7-5 nail biter in the #3 match.

"Dani played an outstanding three set match that was somewhere in the neighborhood of three hours," Bucher said. "She was hitting the ball the best she's hit all year!"

Bucher said that Nuest's opponent is a tough competitor who literally tracks down every ball and keeps it in play, making her difficult to beat.

"So Dani had to go deep into the point before she could come away with a winner or forced error," Bucher said of the marathon match.

Picking up the final singles win for Becker was Lauren Croal, who scored a 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 victory. In the doubles cate-

Blast from the past at CC meet

The Becker boys and girls cross country teams welcomed 12 teams to Becker Oct. 5 for the annual Becker Invitational held at the Local 9 of the Pebble Creek Golf Course. The event served as a preview event for the Section 5AA teams as Becker is scheduled to host again for the Section Championship meet Thurs., Oct. 28.

Sports News Bulldogs romp Magic, 31-7 on Tackle Cancer night

Reporter.Bill@PatriotNewsMN.com

The Bulldogs improved to 6-0 with a dominant win over Monticello last Friday night on Tackle Cancer night.

Nick Berglund was the offensive star of the game as he reeled in three TD scores to help the Bulldogs rout the Magic, 31-7.

Both teams ran nearly the same amount of plays (Becker 54, Monticello 57) and had just about the same amount of rushing yards (Becker 136, Monticello but Becker soared compared to Monticello's Hokan Bengtson's defense continues to shine as they gave up only seven points Friday and now have given up just 40 points in the six games (that averages to about 6.6 points a game). They forced four turnovers (three fumbles and one

The offense has scored 206 points and are averaging 34 points a game.

rolling in the first quarter when he found Berglund open from 39 yards out to start the scoring. Bengtson would finish the game 11of-18 for 134 yards

The Bulldogs would score twice in the second quarter, once when Carter Callahan barreled into the end zone from one-yard out to help his team go up 21-0. Then, Ryan's brother, Zach capped the first half scoring when he nailed a 27-yard field goal to make it 24-0.

In the third, Bengtson and Berglund hooked up for the third time, this time from five yards out to finish Becker's scoring at 31. Monticello would add a late TD to spoil the shutout when Carson Kolles rambled in from 24 yards out to make it 31-7.

Callahan finished the ground game with 74 yards on 14 carries and the one score. Kabir Bhakta had 33 yards on four carries and Mason Rach gained 21 yards on nine carries.

Berglund had the three TD scores and caught four passes total for 65 yards. Alex Weiss had five catches for 51

On defense, Joe Goth was flying all over the field as he had nine tackles and one assist and one tackle for a loss. Ethan Anderson had six tackles and one assist and also had the interception while Dylan Weber had four tackles and three assists. Adam Jurek, Ethan Orgon and Dailen Adugyamfi had the three fumble recoveries.

Becker wore bright pink uniforms during warmups and donned pink socks and sleeves for the game in honor of people they know who have or are going through the struggles of cancer. The stands were packed with a sea of pink as well.

Here's to Fall Sports!

By Mariah Holland Contributing Writer

Fall has officially hit and that means its football, hockey, and basketball season. This is obviously my favorite time of the year since it's hockey time, my favorite sport no doubt. I also added another reason to this list and that is, I got married on the first of October! The timing was great for all the colors to be beautiful and everything went perfect! My husband actually surprised me with a gift while we were taking pictures, it's a signed Kirill Kaprizov jersey! I couldn't believe it and am still ecstatic!

Back to sports, clearly the Wild made news with Kaprizov signing and their season just getting underway. But who I really want to discuss a little bit is the Minnesota Vikings, who are having a rough start to their season, as of Tuesday evening they were 2-3, just coming off a close win over the Detroit Lions.

In my list of favorite sports, football probably ranks second. I don't watch a lot of it but when I start watching I usually end up staying until the end. I would have to say my favorite team is of course the hometown Vikings. A few years back when I was really into football, my second favorite team was the New York Giants because of My team is now just the Vikings and from what I've heard, things are pretty rough for them this season, but it's just getting started. They still have 12 games left and are nearly at .500 for a record. Yes, that's not great but things could be worse, they could be 0-5. At least they have a couple wins under their belt and they just need to find the momentum to build off of them.

I'm not familiar with a lot of the names on their roster but I am a fan of both Adam Thielen and Dalvin Cook. Obviously, I've heard a lot about these players because they're some of the best the Vikings have. Back when Randy Moss, Chris Carter, Jared Allen, and Chad Greenway played, I knew most of the names on the roster but of course times change. The one thing that doesn't seem to change is the Vikings fanbase. Some can be quite cynical sometimes but they are for sure one thing; loyal. They may not be happy with their team but they'll never give up on them. My parents are prime examples, especially my mom. No matter how many times she'll complain about her team or be disappointed at an outcome, she's the first one to cheer when something goes right and would never give up on them.

Growing up, she'd be the one turning the tv on the football game and demanding no one change the channel, even if there was Wild hockey on at the same time, this led to some arguments when I was in high school. However, it's also where I got my team loyalty from. No matter how many upsets my teams have, I'll never not cheer for them, the Wild included.

On another hockey sidenote, the National Hockey League's 32nd team started play this week that team being the Seattle Kraken.

I have to say I'm a fan, they're a good, dynamic team that just needs to work out the bugs but in their first game they gave the Vegas Golden Knights a run for their money. The Kraken came back from a 3-0 deficit to tie it, but went on to lose, 4-3. Not a bad outcome for their first regular season gameheck them out!

Here's to fall weather and fall/winter sports. Can't wait for some bonfires, chilly weather, and everything fall!

Reporter.Bill@PatriotNewsMN.com

The Hornet football team traveled to Hutchinson last Friday night and were shutout for the fourth straight game.

The Hornets have now scored just 18 points in their six games and dropped to 0-6 for the 2021 season.

Friday, it was all Hutchinson as they improved to 5-1 with a TD in the first quarter, two in the second and two in the third. All five TDs were runs of 25, seven, two, three and one.

Big Lake QB Tyler Anderson was seven-of-eight for 82 yards and two interceptions. Big Lake just managed 99 yards total to Hutchinson's 312. The Hornets committed five turnovers (three fumbles and two INTs) and had a half yards on nine carries. Jonah Mallberg was the top receiver with three receptions for 42 yards including a 19-yarder.

Hutchinson's Levi Teetzel gained 136 yards on 14 carries and had two TDs. AJ Ladwig had 119 yards on 14 carries and two scores.
