Clearwater Legion Riders again donate thousands to veteran's organizations

By Penny Leuthard, Contributing Writer

On September 26 the Clearwater Legion Riders held a spaghetti dinner to celebrate the success of their annual Homeless Vets Run fundraiser and award the proceeds of their hard work.

The Riders invited their donors and this year's nonprofit veterans' organizations to the event so everyone could be present and see where the money they raised is going. This year's recipients were Angel Reins, Magnus Veterans Foundation, Patriot Assistance Dogs, St. Cloud Stand Down, Veterans on the Lake Resort, and Wounded Warrior Guide Service.

The organizations were chosen as they were deemed to have the most impact for the money in veterans' lives; each was awarded $7,500.

First to be awarded a donation was Angel Reins, an organization that provides equestrian therapy to veterans, survivors of human trafficking and others suffering from PTSD, depression, and anxiety. Most of the horses they use are rescues.

"They [the horses] have gone through a lot and bond well with the veterans," said one of the representatives for Angel Reins. A veteran helped by their organization also shared how it had saved

The organization's founders have over 100 years of combined military service, and their team, which includes physicians, licensed professionals, veteran families, community leaders, and military advocates, understand the profound impact that war and military service has on veterans and their fam-

Because of the overabundance of dogs in pounds, Patriot Assistant Dogs, the third recipient, decided to use rescue dogs to provide highly trained, certified psychiatric service dogs to veterans. The cost for each dog trained averages $19,000, however they provide the animals to veterans at no cost.

"To say he [his dog] saved my life is an understatement," said one of the veterans who attended the event with his dog and explained how the organization and the dog they provided him had impacted his life.

Recipient number four was St. Cloud Stand Down, whose mission is to provide veterans with dignity and respect. They provide everything a vet might need, including help with rent, a car, legal issues, furniture, mattresses, and boxes of food each month. Representative Bob Berens stated they'd given out 239 boxes of food in 2022 so far, and they were on target to give away 750 boxes by the end of the year. They also work with eight area businesses to provide

Veterans on the Lake Resort was next, an organization near the Boundary Waters with the mission of enriching the lives of disabled veterans, current and formerly enrolled veterans, and their families by providing opportunities for inclusion in outdoor recreational activities and mental respite. Their current goal is to have their pier access and all of their cabins and services wheelchair accessible.

Last up was Wounded Warrior Guide Service, whose representative spoke about their mission to provide recreational therapy to around 800 veterans each year by bringing them outdoors to experience activities such as hunting and camping trips and fishing events.

The Clearwater Legion Riders' Homeless Veteran's Run and Fundraiser is held annually on the first weekend of August. Along with the ride, this year's event included silent and live auctions, raffles, dinner, and a street dance. All proceeds from the event are used for veteran causes.

Lynden Twp. moves forward with land purchase

By Penny Leuthard, Contributing Writer

During their October meeting, Lynden Twp. Supervisor Dennis Niemi informed the board he had heard back from the St. Cloud City Administrator regarding the purchase of land for township use and was told the mayor supports selling a six acre parcel to the township. Niemi had been authorized to conduct preliminary discussions with the City of St. Cloud and other potential landowners in regard to purchasing additional land for the township during the township's July meeting,

With the advice and consent of Twp. Atty. Mike Couri, a motion carried authorizing Niemi to move forward with a draft purchase agreement and other processes underway.

Allowance Request

Katheryn Lange approached the board to request an allowance to place a building on her 35 acre parcel while her non-building conveyance dispute with Stearns Co. is pending. She stated she doesn't have an administrative split in process for the property and that feedlot setbacks originally factored in house.

The building is 24'x 32' and would temporarily sit on blocks, eventually become her permanent home with a cement slab. Electric, septic, and well are all completed. Planning Administrator James Kantor suggested a bond be required if the board approves the request; Twp. Atty. Mike Couri advised the township not to approve the request.

A motion was made to allow Lange to move the building onto the property with a sunset date of July 1, 2023; if the dispute with Stearns Co. is not complete by then the building would need to be removed. A motion carried 2-1, with Johnson agreeing the Couri. Points of Access Limit

Dennis LacQuay and his attorney, Tyler Adams, addressed the board regarding driveways on his Elderberry Road property. They presented aerial maps from 2005 to 2021 and a letter from DJB Construction supporting their request to recognize the pre-existing three points of access, specifically the nonconformity of the elongated

RV pad.

They informed the board the plan is to renovate what's already in place, not add a new driveway, stating that it wasn't a driveway but an extension of the RV pad. Lac-Quay's intent is to park his RV on this pad, with the RV fifth wheel and trailer totaling 65 feet in length.

Johnson stated the township is the road authority and a variance would be needed to differ from their limit of two driveways. Niemi made a reminder that variances are for hardships.

Other Business

Johnson, in conjunction with Stearns Co. Emergency Management, was authorized to pursue two projects identified in the hazard mitigation plan, sirens and dry hydrants, and to submit Notice of Intent form. He was already contacted the DNR for preliminary approval for a de-watering permit out of Long Lake.

Johnson was authorized to submit a project to the DNR to redo Eaglewood Road, from Co. Road 44 to the landing, and to place asphalt surface on the landing.

Two administrative citations were issued on Sept. 20 in regard to the unfinished home on the property at 254 Woods Edge Road. The citations communicated that fines totaled $5,800 with a payment deadline of Oct. 3, 2022. A motion carried proposing a settlement agreement with conditions and reducing the fine to $900. The settlement agreement was executed and the fine paid.

Certificate of Compliance with Twp. ordinances 7 and 8 in regard to James Froelich Administrative Split. Froelich own two properties adjacent to each other and requested a 100 foot line adjustment; the Planning Commission recommended approval. A motion carried for approval.

A motion carried reaffirming the Sept. 19 Ordinance 10 Administrative Code Enforcement notice issued to the 20171 Lake Maria Road property owner regarding sprinkler heads in the right-of-way. The owner didn't appear at the meeting; the deadline to comply is Oct.

The next Lynden Twp. meeting will be on Nov. 7 at 7 p.m.

cluded a bipartisan authorization of a new natural gas fired power plant that was signed into law in 2017 by then Governor Mark Dayton. By last year, however, Mathews noted that Xcel Energy had changed their plans and put forth one that was entirely dependent on solar energy for the Sherco site.

Mekeland spoke next, explaining that the rally was about an affordable and reliable energy grid but also included a financial aspect. as the power plant currently provides about 75% of the City of Becker tax base, 25% of the school's and 15% for Sherburne County.

Becker Council Member Rick Hendrickson then addressed the crowd, as did several candidates for office for Sherburne County Commissioner and Becker school board. Each talked about the impacts that the local economy will feel as a result of the change in plans for the three Sherco plants before the microphone was passed to Orr for his presentation.

Orr electrified the crowd with a litany of statistics he said were meant to give the people in attendance the "tools to talk to other people about this issue."

Orr, who grew up on a dairy farm in Wisconsin, talked about the difficulties in educating people about the ramifications of what will happen in Minnesota if the state were to experience the same energy shortfalls that have plagued other parts of

"There's too many people who think that milk comes from the store and electricity comes from the outlet," Orr

Since 2007, Minnesota's energy costs have dramatically outpaced the national average and the reliability of the energy grid has also come into question, with MISO, the electrical grid operator for MN and 12 other states, predicting a current capacity shortage of 1,200 megawatts. By 2023, the deficit is expected to more than double to 2,600 megawatts and then grow to an incredible 10,900 megawatt shortage by 2027.

"We are repeating California's mistakes and then hoping for a different result," Orr noted, citing rolling blackouts and failing grid systems in America's west before warning of much worse consequences if the same happened in Minnesota. "It's going to be way worse here if the same thing happens because we all need electricity for our heat in the winter."

Orr next addressed what he called the common misconception that it is too late to save Sherco, citing coal plants in Wisconsin and Missouri that have recently postponed decommissioning because of fears of a lack of power in the

"All Xcel has to do is approach the PUC (Public Utilities Commission) with the reliability concerns and the commission would most likely approve keeping the plant online," Orr said. "We need to pump the brakes on this closure."

Orr discussed Xcel's unique stature as a government regulated monopoly and reiterated that they are not a private company. In fact, Xcel's corporate profits are generated from a cost of service formula that allows them to charge enough money to pay for the electrical production, plus a 10% bonus profit on any new power generation infrastructure.

"That gives Xcel a powerful financial incentive to build as much new renewable energy as possible whether they need it or not," Orr said, noting that the Sherco plants have several decades of serviceability left in them. "As Xcel's percentage of renewable energy production goes up, so does the percentage of their profits."

Shifting his focus to solar energy, Orr explained that the panels produce about 17 to 18 percent of their potential output factor, whereas nuclear energy hits over 97 percent in terms of its output factor. Coal, at a minimum, provides more than three times as much output and much more than that when it operates at peak efficiency, whereas wind power is much less.

As proof to his example, Orr cited a time in recent history when Sherco was producing more energy than all of the wind production in Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota and Wisconsin combined

Subsidies were also discussed, with Orr speaking about the $50,000 per acre Federal subsidy that solar farms are given in their first year in existence. When factoring in this large amount of government assistance, solar and wind energy are not cheaper alternatives to fossil fuels according to Orr. It was pointed out that nuclear energy is carbon free and should at least be in the discussion when it comes to an "all of the above" energy

When it comes to pollution, Orr explained that worldwide, a couple of coal plants are opened and brought online every week of the year. This caused Orr to opine that Minnesota's small reduction in carbon emissions are getting "swamped" by the actions of the coal plants being operated across the developing countries on Earth.

Another topic covered by Orr was the idea of taking renewable energy, such as solar, and having the energy "stored" in huge batteries for times when the sun is not shining. Orr said that by 2030, there would be enough battery storage capacity on the entire planet Earth to power Minnesota for just 3

Just as Orr finished his presentation, Dr. Scott Jensen stopped by for a quick visit on his way in-between campaign stops.

Jensen hammered home the point that Minnesota needs to lift the nuclear moratorium, even noting that in 2009, Tim Walz had advocated loudly for removing it and having the discussion about the future of nuclear energy. He also said it was not too late to save Sherco, and outlined what energy policy would look like in January should he be elected. "It's irresponsible to think we can shut down Sherco and still expect the same performance from our electrical grid," Jensen said. "We need to stand up for Sherco now in the same way that we need to stand up for our energy independence."

Jensen then left the auditorium to a raucous standing ovation, while Orr, Mekeland and Mathews spent the next 30 minutes in a question and answer session with the audi-

Candidates face-off at forum hosted by Chambers of Commerce

By Mark Kolbinger, Contributing Writer

Monday evening, the Becker, Big Lake and Elk River Chambers of Commerce co-sponsored a candidates forum held at the Big Lake High School auditorium. Sherburne County Commissioner candidates for the four open districts shared their pitch to voters, while the two candidates for County Auditor/Treasurer were also on hand to discuss their vision for the office. The evening concluded with the State Representative candidates for District 27A, as well as the two people running for State Senate District 27.

John Houlton, President and CEO of First Bank Elk River served as moderator for the evening, while the Sherburne Wright Cable Commission live-streamed the event on local cable The eight candidates for the four open commissioner spots kicked off the evening, with each being allowed the chance to introduce themselves and identify their priorities. District 1 started off the evening, as challenger Andrew Hulse cited his military service and 23 years as a resident of the City of Elk River among his qualification for the office. He listed economic development, the power grid, and lowering taxes as his top priorities.

Incumbent Barb Burandt was next and she touted her six years of experience as a Commissioner, as well as her 50 plus years of residency in Elk River. She mentioned Public Health and Public Safety, as well as the importance of having board members from a variety of backgrounds as priorities for her candidacy.

In District 2, Paul Fanberg indicated his construction experience in the area as one of his qualifications, while naming God, family and country (constitutional rights) as his focus.

Incumbent Raeanne Danielowski noted her 46 years as a local business owner, before identifying public safety, broadband, and transportation issues as being keys to her fiscally conservative, small government agenda.

In District 3, Mark Swanson and Gregg Felber are running for Tim Dolan's seat, meaning that residents will be electing a Veteran to fill that vacancy. Swanson highlighted his service in the US Navy, while Felber has served in both the MN and WI Army National Guard. Both are also current office holders, as Swanson is a Becker

School Board and M-BL Hospital Board member and Felber is serving on the Orrock Township Board of Supervisors.

Swanson named the Second Amendment, transportation (roads), growing the business climate and election integrity as issues that are important to him.

Felber, a retired police officer, wants to ease the restrictions in the county's Comp Plan, as well as push for a new Mississippi River crossing in the county. He also wants to ensure first responders have the equipment and training they need to be successful in their

Finally, in District 4,

Gary Gray and Lefty Kleis are running to replace the retiring Felix Schmiesing as commissioner for the mostly rural district.

Kleis, the former Mayor of Becker, said he is running to represent the voices of the taxpayers of the county and will put the needs of the people first.

Gray, a lifelong resident of the county and current Clear Lake Twp. Board Chair, said he will devote 100% of his time to the position now that he is retired from farming. He said he wants to continue to fulfill his mission of public service and would continue to focus on fiscal responsibility and transparency if elected commissioner.

From there, candidates took turns providing answers to questions that had previously been submitted to the Chambers or were submitted that evening by members of the audience.

After the Commissioners were finished with their time period, Sherburne County Auditor/Treasurer candidates took the stage.

Diane Arnold is the incumbent, having held the position for the past 16 years, winning re-election last in 2018 with 70% of the county-wide vote.

Her opponent, Chad Westberg, is an Elk River resident with prior experience as a member of that city's Planning Commission.

The evening finished off with candidates for the newly re-districted seats in both the MN House (District 27A) and Senate (District 27).

On the House side. this year's election will be a re-match of the 2020 then House 15B election between incumbent Shane Mekeland and challenger Ron Thiessen. Mekeland won that election with 70% of the vote, but the new district has undergone some changes including the addition of much of Big Lake.

For the Senate seat, incumbent Andrew Mathews is looking to retain his seat and is being challenged by Emy Minzel, owner of a small business in Baldwin

For readers interested in hearing more about each candidate, the video from the entire debate is being provided on the websites of all 3 chambers of commerce. ## More Spending (Sigh)

(Editor's Note: The following column was submitted by Rep. Tom Emmer.)

Unsurprisingly, the last vote in the House of Representatives before the election was another spending bill. This short-term government funding bill piled spending on top of our $30 trillion budget and did nothing to address our broken budget process. For that reason, I voted "no" on Friday's spending bill.

Taxpayer dollars should be used wisely and with safeguards to ensure they do not become the subject of fraud and abuse. There is no shortage of examples of what can happen when the federal government throws money at problems without proper accountability. Just last month, the Dept. of Justice announced charges against 47 individuals in a fraud scheme involving Feeding our Future. This organization, formerly based in St. Anthony, allegedly stole at least $250 million dollars from taxpayers.

Last week, I joined Rep. Michelle Fischbach and members of the Minnesota delegation in a letter to the USDA on what they're doing to prevent future fraud in other federally funded nutrition programs, similar to Feeding our Fu-

Instances of misuse are becoming the rule instead of the exception when it comes to largescale government spending. Oversight is essential to preventing this growing waste and fraud, and we've fought to build guardrails into previous government funding.

Last year, we offered an amendment to the American Rescue Plan to redirect $35 million to fund Inspectors General to detect and prevent fraud like the kind carried out by Feeding our Future; unfortunately, the amendment failed to pass on a partisan vote.

Strong oversight of government spending will be a key part of our work in the next Congress, and we will not support future spending without accountability.

Beyond the Pink Ribbon —

It's that time of year that most Minnesotans love. The perfect temps and the trees are a blaze in autumn glory. It's the fall season, but October means so much more.

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness month. It started October 1985, with the first campaign in the U.S. to bring attention to breast cancer. This month-long campaign branches out internationally to bring global awareness.

Most of us know or have been impacted by someone with breast cancer. According to the American Cancer Society, it is one of the "most common cancers among women besides skin cancer." And it happens to men. "In the U.S., less than one percent of all breast cancer occurs in men," says komen.org.

The pink ribbon has become a symbol of breast cancer awareness. Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure has used this ribbon since "This ribbon signifies the promise (Komen Founder) Nancy G. Brinker made to her dying sister, Susan G. Komen, to do what she could to end breast cancer."

The fight continues.

I spoke with some women who have faced and are currently facing breast cancer. Their personal stories are compelling.

Deb was a classmate and a friend. We met this past September. We reminisced on school, people and breast cancer. As hard as it was, Deb shared her story. She was honest and conveyed the reality of it all - the fear, the pain and the struggle. In February of 2021, she noticed that her breast was partially swollen and it hurt. She went to the doctor and tests were done. A mammogram and ultrasound were scheduled.

By Shelley Berthiaume Contributing Writer

From there, a breast biopsy. In a matter of two weeks, the results stated she had Lobular Breast Cancer. Next, an MRI.

Lobular accounts for about 10-15 percent of all breast cancers. It is harder to find as it doesn't lump together, it grows like a tree branch. Invasive Ductal Carcinoma (IDC) is the most common. Eighty percent of women have this form - it's where you feel a lump. Both are breast cancers, but they are different and do not respond to the same treatment. Deb faced grueling rounds of chemo, radiation, double mastectomy and removal of her axillary lymph nodes. Currently, Deb is considered NED (No evidence of disease). She is on hormone blockers and oral chemo. Deb says she is changing her mindset and executing a healthy lifestyle that will prevent cancer recurrence. God continues to be a source of strength.

Jeannie was 49 when she was diagnosed with Ductal Carcinoma in 2012. Masses were found in and around her left breast. Like Deb, Jeannie endured rounds of chemo, radiation and eventually, a double mastectomy. Jeannie is here today and living 10 years cancer free. She continues to help others who are going through what she went through. Jeannie feels blessed and says, "I owe it all to God, my doctors, family and friends."

Asha, 33, a young mother of two, married and a school nurse was diagnosed April of 2021, with "Invasive Ductal Carcinoma with lymph node involvement breast cancer." So young and definitely not the median age, which is 62 according to cancer. org. Like Deb and Jeannie, she has undergone chemo, radiation and a double mastectomy. She still faces challenges ahead and she does it with a smile. She radiates positivity and a fighting spirit. She shares messages of hope like this, "Attitude is a little thing that makes a big deal, "Winston Churchill.

Sheila was a grade behind me in school. She was diagnosed with Ductal Carcinoma in September during a regular checkup. Sheila approaches breast cancer with great faith and a positive outlook. She believes God is with her and He is her strength.

Jennifer Edwards was a staple here in Big Lake for years covering stories at the Tribune. I was saddened to learn, she recently lost her battle to stage four breast

"The human spirit is stronger than anything that can happen to it," C.C. Scott. To say I am amazed at these women would be understatement. Their stories have taught me so much. They have faced the ultimate battle and have bravely reminded me to be grateful for good health.

While all cancers deserve our attention, this month is dedicated to breast cancer - the survivors, the ones in battle and the ones no longer here."

Stay on top of those exams and preventative measures. It's important.

(Editor's note: Due to space constraints, the Patriot will publish up to 5-6 LTEs a week as space allows and carry over unpublished letters to the next week, if able. Also, we no longer have a policy which restricts letter writers from submitting political editorials a week prior to an election.)

TO THE EDITOR: I have known Raeanne Danielowski for over 10 years. When The Wave Youth Center was just a dream, Raeanne was there cheering us on. As we took steps toward making the youth center a reality, she was busy connecting us with people with a particular area of expertise or a heart for the youth in our community. I don't remember any organization or community event that I have attended where she was not there lending a hand. She is an excellent example of public service and someone who has a heart for the community. Raeanne excels at connecting people and resources to causes that benefit the whole community. Her positivity, her ability to gather community, and her "get it done" attitude never ceases and are what we need in this time and place we find ourselves. If she can't help you personally, she knows an organization or person that can. What I particularly admire her for is her ability to be nonpartisan. That is not easy. While she is not tied to one political party, she has an open mind, and her heart is tethered to this community and

TO THE EDITOR:

Let's look at another political office and the candidate that is running. Ryan Wilson is running for State Auditor and we haven't heard much about this office until recently, with the disgusting fraud/waste that has been brought to light with the current State Auditor Julie Blaha and her partner in crime Tim Walz. We need Ryan Wilson to be our next State Auditor. Our state has had some of the largest financial scandals in its history during the current State Auditor's watch. We've seen news reports of $100M in daycare fraud, $250M (at least) in child food program fraud and $1B in Met Council cost overruns. I am tired of OUR hard-earned tax dollars being wasted so these politicians can fund their lavish lifestyles. This keeps happening over and over and no one gets caught, and no one knows if the fraud has actually stopped. I'm voting for Ryan Wilson for State Auditor on November 8th, he was born/ raised in Minnesota, he and his wife are raising their family here, he attended high school/college here, started his career as a constitutional rights attorney and founded a large medical device auditing company and will actually fight waste, fraud, and abuse. Shelly Alger-Peyton Clear Lake, MN

TO THE EDITOR: During my 30 years of public service with Sherburne County, I have had an opportunity to work with Gary Gray and have found him to be a sound, critical and collaborative thinker. I have known him to be a good listener and a balanced decision maker. I believe he is the best candidate for district 4 to elect to the Sherburne County Board of Commissioners. Gary has 18 years of experience on the Clear Lake Township Board. This local government experience has earned him knowledge of the county board and what their duties entail. He knows what the issues are that should be worked on, and also what issues cannot be changed which he needs to work with to reach the most desirable outcome for everyone. Landowner rights are important and they are important to Gary. Gary has farmed in this district for many years, and he understands and respects the desires of landowners to manage their lands. He also understands the importance of working respectfully with the four other county commissioners, 11 townships (including the city of Elk River) and their constituents. We, in Sherburne County have enjoyed a high quality of life for years. I believe that Gary has the experience and vision to continue to provide the excellent consistency in management established by the retiring Felix Schmiesing. Bob Stangler

TO THE EDITOR:

I have known Kim Noding for as long as I have lived in Big Lake; 23 years, and have seen all facets of her character; leader of homeschool organization, relentless cheerleader for a contest for money for our lake (which we won), mom of boys and girls, supporter of the local arts, partner in her husband's remodeling business, and a devoted city council member. She's running again, and I highly recommend and support her, and ask that you do too. She wants Big Lake to succeed and be best, so we all can succeed.

Ramona Voight Big Lake, MN

TO THE EDITOR:

I recommend Kim Noding to be reelected for a full term on the Big Lake City Council as I know of her great love for Big Lake. I had the pleasure of working alongside her on the Big Lake Economic Development Authority and quickly learned she didn't just talk about growing her city, but actually supports that growth through her suggestions, questions, and ultimately votes. Kim brings a fresh perspective to the council and an enthusiasm for supporting new businesses, while paying down the cities debt, which helps everyone. I hope you will vote for Kim Noding on November 8th.

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing in response to Paul Knier's letter in the Oct. 8th issue of the Patriot. His point about wasting arable land and destroying stands of trees for solar farms is acutely accurate and should be a major concern. How ideas like this reach fruition is beyond me. Just the simple fact that trees and crops are major carbon absorbers and oxygen producers should be enough for decision makers to cry, "Bad idea!" I am not informed enough to comment on the mining of materials for new panels or the disposal of used panels that Mr. Knier mentions. However, since the push for solar seems inevitable I do have a land use suggestion. Consider the medians and outer grassy edges of our inter-state system and many of our highways. Here you have hundreds and hundreds of miles of land already cleared, right-ofways in place, and direct available transmission connections to multiple communities. No trees need removing, no arable land repurposed. Jeff Hill

BL graduate gets stationed at Stennis Space Center as oceanographer

By Katherine Cantin, Reporter.Katie@PatriotNewsMN.com

Austin Abbott, a Big Lake High School Graduate, is currently serving as an oceanographer with the US Navy at Stennis Space Center in Mississippi. Abbott kindly sat down with this reporter to talk about his career and service.

Education

Abbott was born and raised in Big Lake. He lived there through high school with his parents, Don and Lisa Abbott, and sister, Shealyn Abbott. He graduated from Big Lake High School in 2013. After high school,

Abbott joined the Army National Guard, where he served for six years. During his service, Abbott also attended school, earning his undergraduate degree in biology from the University

During his time at the U of M, Abbott participated in a program that worked with invasive species. He helped to find solutions to keep Asian Karp out of the great lakes lock and dam systems. He really enjoyed the program and working on the water, but wanted to aim for a field that was more technical than the biology he'd been studying

He was turned on to oceanography, and earned his master's degree in the subject from Old Dominion University in Virginia.

Abbott also graduated from officer candidate school in Rhode Island.

Military Service

Abbott said it was always his dream to join the military and serve his country. He joined the Army National Guard after high school and served for six years and enjoyed it, but he felt it wasn't enough. He wanted to continue to pursue a career with the military, as well as incorporate his interest in science. He discovered the oceanography program with the Navy and so he pursued being commissioned as an officer.

Abbott said it was the perfect place for him, as he gets to pursue two of his passions in one job: studying oceanography and serving with the military.

Oceanography

Abbott is one of only 300 oceanographers serving with the US Navy. Currently stationed at Stennis Space Center, Abbott says it's very cool to be serving on a NASA base, even if he doesn't interact with the NASA operations. While on base, Abbott works on training on the Pearl River which runs nearby.

Navy Oceanographers are commissioned by the Navy and other branches of the military to survey river and littoral (coastal) areas. They ensure the safety and successful navigation of military ships by mapping the area using sonar technology. Oceanographers may be commissioned to Abbott said he recently returned from a trip to Camp Lejeune in North Carolina. Abbott said the trip was fascinating, as he got the chance to try out new technology: an unmanned underwater vehicle. Abbott said the machine looked kind of like a torpedo. He directed it where he wanted it to go and it went out to take measurements for the team. Usually, sonar measurements are captured from a boat, so it was a unique experience.

Advice to

Local Students When asked if he had any advice for other Big

Lake/area students who were considering a military career, Abbott said, "Explore your options, look at everything out there."

He said there are so many different careers within the military, no one needs to worry they will be limited to what they consider to be stereotypical military jobs. There are roles for those interested in being a mechanic, administrator, cook, and lots of

"For any career in the civilian world, there's one to match it in the military," Abbott said. "Think about what you really want to do, and you'll find it."

In addition to writing the Eli Marks Mystery series, John Gaspard also created the Como Park Mystery series, is host for two podcasts, and - according to Gaspard — "has directed six low-budget features that cost very little and made even less.'

Julie Holmes has written a variety of mystery novels. Her Sierra Bauer Mystery series features a mystery solving, former aircraft mechanic, which require details from Holmes' own experience as a former aircraft mechanic.

Christine Husom is the author of two mystery series: The Winnebago County Mysteries and the Snow Globe Shop mysteries. Her recent book in the Winnebago County Mystery series, Death to The Dealers won a silver award from the Midwest Publishers Association. Just recently she released the fourth book in the Snow Globe Shop mysteries.

PATRICT Hornets get devoured by Tigers, 68-0

reporter.bill@patriotnewsmn.com

The Hornets dropped to 0-6 with a convincing loss to the Hutchinson Tigers, 68-0 at home last Friday night.

Three scored in the first quarter and two in the second set the tone for the game as Hutchinson whalloped the Hornets on their home turf. Things didn't improve after halftime either, as the Tigers scored four touchdowns in the third quarter and two in the fourth to pick up the win. The game started with Kyle Schumann pulling in a 16-yard TD from QB Logan Butler for the opening score. Alex Elliott converted the two-point conversion attempt and the Tigers were up early, 8-0.

AJ Ladwig got loose on Hutch's next possession and sauntered 32 yards to the end zone for a touchdown. This time, the twopointer failed and the score was 14-0 Hutchinson after two drives. Adding salt to the wound, Hutchinson got a gift safety late in the first to top the first quarter scoring at 16-0.

In the second, Hutchinson scored on an interception, where Ladwig jumped a pass and scored from 33 yards out to go up 24-0.

Ladwig made the end zone his new best friend by scoring yet again — this time from 30 yards out — to make the score 32-0 at the

The third quarter was a landslide for the Hornets as Hutch scored three times. The first came on a Ladwig, three yard run to go up 38-0. Butler then hit Andrew Lipke from 19 yards out to go up 44-0. It continued to snowball as Hutchinson scored another TD. Butler to Nathan Thode from nine yards out, to go up 50-0. One more TD in the third was executed by Davontey Parker who ran it in from 26 yards out to go

Unfortunately for the Hornets, there was still another quarter to face and Hutchinson didn't let up.

Parker scored his second TD in a row when he rambled in from seven yards out to make the score 62-0. Mercifully, Eli Croatt capped the night off with a one yard TD run to make the final, 68-0.

Big Lake ran 46 plays compared to 59 for the Tigers. Hutchinson had 16 first downs compared to just four for Big Lake. The Hornets also committed five turnovers while Hutch turned it over just once.

Boys Soccer The Hornet boys soccer team finished its regular Coach Mike Baldwin said it was the first time in awhile the Hornets had some of their starting forwards back. And it paid off when both forwards scored. Zach Cypull got Big Lake's first goal in the first half.

The Tigers tied the game in the second half. But Charly Dongmo bent a shot into the upper corner of the net with about 10 minutes left for the lead, and the Hornets held on for the win.

"I thought we controlled the midfield well," said Baldwin. "We earned that win. We didn't come out of there lucky.'

It was only the second win this year for the Hornets, who have suffered through injuries and illness for a good part of the sea-

In their only other win this year against Rockford in the second game of the season, Big Lake lost two players. Carter Borer suffered a broken leg. Tamren Acosta broke his collar bone. Zack Medlock and Zach Strom are also out.

So even with Cypull and Dongmo in the lineup, the Hornets are a bit shorthanded. But they have played well together as a team, and they're hoping to do well in the first round of the playoffs. They play a rematch against Princeton Saturday in the section quarterfinals.

Bulldog runners have busy week

By Bill Morgan, Staff Writer reporter.bill@patriotnewsmn.com

The Becker Bulldogs hosted the Becker Invitational at the beautiful Pebble Creek Golf Course on Tues., Oct. 4 for a fun night of good racing and celebrations. "I am always so grateful for the wonderful community support received at our home meet" said Coach Dustin The racing started off with a youth run that yielded 10 runners over the one-mile loop while 'chasing the prize' attached to the lead cart.

'Several years ago we had thought about dangling a carrot for runners, but then decided that a toy bone was more fitting of a prize for Bulldogs and it has been a playful tradition since," said Weege.

Next was the junior high runners' 3200m race which had the Bulldogs scoring 53 points as a team. Brandt Hemmelgarn placed fifth, Weston Denne placed 11th, Carson Schuster placed 13th, Maverick Pink placed 17th, Tanner Schmitt placed 31st, and Keaton Colford placed In the varsity race, the Bulldogs had more great running as the team placed second with all team members again being below the 19 minute mark. Caleb Reckelberg (18:58) was 38th, Jase Tobako (18:19) was 27th, Evan Hubbard (18:01) was 17th, Parker Spindler (17:41) was 10th, Tanner Felton (17:27) was seventh, Mason Becker (17:26) was sixth, and Tyson Ricker (17:11) was

For the JV race, the Bulldogs placed third. Mason Tschida had a nice PR with his 19:07 which earned him fourth in the event. The Bulldogs team also had Alex Schermer (20:05 - 13th), Noah Bloch (20:27 - 17th), Jonathan Drury (21:33 -31st), Aiden Frommelt (22:15 - 41st), Jacob Kurhajetz (24:00 - 55th), Vincent Martin (24:41 - 61st), Denlan Harmoning (24:42 - 62nd), Thomas Cota (26:12 - 68th), and Aiden Jacobs (27:34 -73rd).

The Becker Invitational night was also a time to recognize the Bulldog seniors a bit as it was their last home meet to race in. Coaches thanked them for their years of faithful running and urged them to continue to run the race with endurance.

Alexandria Meet

After a couple days for some recovery, the Bulldogs loaded up to travel for another competition as they attended the Alexandria Lions Club's 49th annual "Meet of Champions" held at Arrowwood Resort. The event had over 1200 runners. The junior high team was 14th in the competition with Brandt Hemmelgarn (47th), Mavrick Pink (60th), Carson Schuster (77th), Tanner Schmitt (147th), Aiden Jacobs (149th), and Keaton Colford (151st). Next was the JV race which saw the Bulldogs placing 16th as a team. Caleb Reckelberg was the top dog of that race with his eight-second PR as he has now been sub-19 for three consecutive meets. Mason Tschida (19:46), Noah Bloch (20:48), Jonathan Drury (21:28), Aiden Frommelt (21:47), Jacob Kurhajetz (22:29), Vincent Martin (24:11), and Thomas Cota (25:35) made up the JV team along with Denlan Harmoning (22:52) as he accomplished a startling 41-second PR.

The final race at the Meet of Champions was the varsity boys event in which the Bulldog team was ninth amongst some of the top teams in the state. Tyson Ricker was the top 'Dog again with a new PR of 16:09 for the 5km race. Ricker placed seventh. Tanner Felton was next for the Bulldogs with his 18 second PR and first ever sub-17 time. Felton placed in the top 25 of the meet with his 16:56 and was the top finishing ninth grader of the race.

Mason Becker crossed the line at 17:30, Parker Spindler finished 17:56, Evan Hubbard was 18:09, Alex Swanson was 18:24, and Jase Tobako was 18:42.

"I was pleased with our showing this past few weeks" said Weege. "The guys have been working hard in practices and at meets as we continue to prep for some good races toward the end of the season. I anticipate it to be a tight conference and section and I'm looking forward to seeing what the runners can

Bulldog Swimmers Continue Consistency

By Mark Kolbinger, Contributing Writer

The Becker Bulldog swimming and diving team continues to show great consistency and that effort led to a pair of similar dual meet wins a week ago.

Last Tuesday, the Bulldogs knocked off the Albany Huskies, 97 to 89.

"This was an exciting meet from start to finish, Head Coach Tina Tamm said. "The result came down to the last event."

With the score close, Albany could pick up a first and second place finish in the 400 free relay to tie the meet score. But the Bulldogs and Tamm knew the win could be theirs with a concerted effort.

'As long as we place in that event, we win!" Tamm said. "Our 400 free relays placed second and third to secure the win. The stress level was high but so was the excitement level."

Tamm was proud of the way her athletes came back from being down early in the meet.

"During the first half of the meet we were losing and we were behind by four points going into the diving event," Tamm said. "Our divers, Lauren Woelfel, Lillian Bonsante and Karli Kirk, placed first, second and fourth which flipped the score and had us ahead by four points at the completion of that event."

Tamm credited her team's strong will and determination with securing "Strong touches and the desire to stay undefeated kept the girls motivated for the remainder of the meet," Tamm said.

With the win, Becker remained unbeaten on the season in dual meets.

Bluejackets

Thursday evening, Becker knocked off conference foe Cambridge-Isanti by a score of 94 to 82.

"This win put us at 7-0 for the season and that's the best record we've ever had as long as I've been here," Tamm said. "I knew this season was going to be a good one but these girls continue to amaze me at every meet. They go into each meet ready to go and want to win. They swim their races to the best of their ability every time."

Laila Cook completed her final event for sections by qualifying in all eight swimming events.

"She can only swim two of these at the section meet so now we have some decisions to make," Tamm said.

The girls finished up the season Tuesday evening as they took on the Monticello Magic.

From there, the section 5A True Team meet is on Saturday, Oct 15th at Sauk Rapids-Rice High School.

"This meet gives us glimpse into what the section meet will look like," Tamm said. "We hope to do well on Saturday."

Tamm and her team will then start preparing for the section meet which is November 10 through 12.

Hockey is Right Around the Corner

It's only the second week of October but my mind has fast tracked to the start of the high school hockey season. One of the most highly anticipated sporting events of the season for true Minnesotans is the Minnesota State High School Hockey Tournament but we have to go back a few steps before we get to that point. I thought it'd be fun to have a very early discussion of the upcoming State Tournament and what teams are favor-

If they haven't started already, hockey practices will be getting started soon, then tryouts and finally the most exciting part; games. It's always fun to watch how hard these kids work all season long to get to their version of the Stanley Cup. Last season the boy's A Championship went to Hermantown after they took down Warroad. While the boy's AA Championship went to Andover in a thrilling overtime win over Maple Grove.

The Tourney games last season were very entertaining as they always are and while I typically find it hard to cheer for cities teams, I was able to cheer for Maple Grove and i wash t super disappointed when Andover won because it was such a thrilling and well fought game. It seems like the competition gets better with each season and I can't wait to see who comes out on top this year.

The obvious favorites are the defending champions in Hermantown and Andover but Maple Grove and Warroad were strong teams to take second place and they'll be eager to get vengeance for their losses. In Class A you can't count out Delano who seems to always get extremely close to the tournament but they either lose in the final round before the tournament or they make it to the first round and no further.

East Grand Forks, St. Cloud Cathedral, Monticello, Alexandria and Mahtomedi are all strong and capable teams I'd keep my eye on as this season unfolds as well. At least two of them will most likely make it to the tournament, how far they go after that is a mystery.

On to Class AA and the typical favorites of Moorhead, Grand Rapids, Edina, Roseau, Hill-Murray, and Eden Prairie are the teams to watch out for. Some of these teams I can't stand to cheer for but they are entertaining to watch. Even if you don't like a team, you can still have respect for their level of talent and winning abilities.

When I played hockey, I didn't play long enough to have a chance in the high school tournament, I did however make it to the U-14A state tournament and that was an incredible experience. I always dreamed of playing in the high school tournament but being able to watch it is almost as fun. Every hockey player dreams of playing for their school and then their college and finally the

These kids all have that dream and for a lot of them it may be the only chance they get as it's a very competitive sport with not a lot of roster spots open to go on past high school. Regardless of where they want to go in their career, if you want to watch some fun and fast paced hockey, check out the State Tournament in March, you won't regard it.

With that I'm going to wrap up my small section about the teams expected to make it to the State Tournament and why it's important to them. It's very early but sometimes early predictions are the best, I hope evervone is having a great fall so far and here's to hockey season just around the cor-

Bulldogs tied for 1st place with win over Magic

By Bill Morgan, Staff Writer reporter.bill@patriotnewsmn.com

The Becker Bulldogs stayed hot as they took care of business with the Magic of Monticello on Friday proved their overall record

Friday's final was 35-12 in favor of the Bull-

Things didn't start all that well for Becker as they found themselves down by six when L. Emmerich scored on a long run of 42 yards. The extra point attempt was missed, but the home team held a 6-0 lead through the entire first quar-

The Bulldogs got on track later on in the first when QB Ryan Bengtson connected with Alex Weiss for a 14 yard TD to tie it up. Zach Bengtson booted the extra point through the uprights and Becker found themselves on top, 7-6.

The Magic didn't ba down as Emmerich connected with H. Katzenburger from 17 yards out to put the home team up by five at 12-7 as they failed on a two-point conversion attempt.

Midway through the quarter, Bengtson this time found Kyan Blomquist from 18 yards out to put the Bulldogs up by two (Bengtson converted XP kick).

The third quarter saw both teams battle for field position and the Bulldogs finally broke through when Adam Jurek capped off a target as he reeled in nine long drive with a three yard TD run. After three, Becker was up 21-12.

The fourth quarter was different as Becker got two running touchdowns from two separate players to put the game out of reach. the first score came when QB Bengtson carried the ball over the goal line from one yard out for a TD. The second came when Jurek topped off the game with a 27 yard dagger to finish off the scoring at 35-12.

Ryan Bengtson was great as he went 18-of-28 for 171 yards and two TD scores. On the ground, Jurek — with his late 27 yard run — led all runners with 75 yards on 14 carries and two scores.

Tennis team loses season finale to Rocori

By Mark Kolbinger,

Last Thursday October 6, the Bulldog girls tennis ended their team portion of the season with a hard-fought battle versus Rocori. In a match that could be replayed and resulted in a different outcome, the Bulldogs lost 3-4.

According to Coach Nate Bucher, Sections are played in the Sta-Fit Sartell bubble where there are five indoor courts "For section competition, each match starts from the lower positions as courts open up moving up toward the top positions (seeds)," Bucher said.

With the first three courts open, Lily Anderson played a tough opponent at #4 singles, losing 0-6, 5-7. "Lily really was hitting great, her opponent was able to track down a lot of her shots, though Lily was starting to get a foothold in the second set," Bucher said. "But it was a little too late."

The Bulldogs had great performances as well from Lauren Croal at three singles and the #3 doubles team of Hannah Hyttsten and Payton Enerson. Croal won handily at 6-3, 6-1, while the #3 doubles won 7-5, 6-2.

"These two wins gave us all great hope, knowing that the rests of our positions would be a competitive chance at winning," Bucher Next to play was the #2 doubles team of Hannah Bartlett and Kennedy Drehmel who played one of their most outstanding sets in the first set, winning easily 6-3. 'But unfortunately could not keep the momentum and fell in second and third sets 3-6, 4-6, respectively," Bucher said. The #2 singles position with Dani Nuest has been a strong point throughout the season, and she jumped out to a strong 5-2 lead, but then fell out of rhythm and couldn't recover, while the Rocori player took advantage for the win.

Next for the Bulldogs was the #1 doubles team who came out playing strong, but just falling short in the long games in the first set, dropping 3-6.

"The second set was met with determination and grit and the Madison Bass and Ali Groskreutz combination found some opportunities to capitalize, winning 6-4 in the second set," Bucher said. "But again, Rocori would not easily go away and found a way to beat the Bulldog duo 4-6 in the third set."

Bucher said Ayla Brown at #1 singles played with great tension as the two doubles points were in their third sets while she was playing her circumstances, took some time to settle in with her first set winning in a tiebreak 7-6 (1), but then found her strength and won the second 6-3 nearly at the time when the doubles had lost, making the final score 3-4," Bucher concluded.

"Brown, knowing the

Overall, the coach was happy with the team's performance throughout the year.

"What a great year, we really set out every single day that we got to touch the tennis court to get better, and we did," Bucher said. "We were mostly playing some of our best tennis at the end of the year, but just came up short in some spots. I'm really proud of what the girls accomplished and the way they continued to have each other's backs throughout the season.'

Individuals

Lily Anderson and Lauren Croal were the singles entrants for the Bulldogs and ended up having some really tough draws in the tourna-

"They both played well and had some opportunities to win, but just came up short, bowing out in the first round," Bucher said.

Madison Bass and Ali

Groskreutz, along with Ayla Brown and Dani Nuest were the doubles entrants. Bass and Groskreutz again had a tough draw playing the sixth seeded Rocori doubles team of Andrusick and Field, two singles players with some strong groundstrokes. They, too, came up short in the match, bowing out in the first round.

Brown and Nuest were seeded number two in the sub-section and played dom-

They came away from Friday with two wins and a guarantee to play in the next weekend's section tourna-

'Saturday saw the four teams locked in for the next weekend, playing out the remainder of the bracket in the South for seeding against the North," Bucher said. "Again Brown and Nuest were all gas and won handily bringing them to the finals off the sub-section against the number one seeded St.Cloud

Bucher said that match was a battle throughout with all four players pounding groundstrokes at one another and taking every pop-up ball as an overhead. "It was great, as we hope it was a preview of the championship match to send both of these teams to the State Tournament," Bucher said.

Brown and Nuest prevailed through the third set, upsetting the #1 seed and securing the top seed for the section match up. As sub-section champions, Brown and Nuest will draw the #4 team from the North in the opening round of the Section tournament. "Dani and Ayla are playing some great tennis right now," Bucher said. "Though they are still adjusting to doubles nuances, each time they step back on the court they are getting stronger. We hope that they continue this strong
