RESPONSE TO MONTICELLO NUCLEAR FACILITY WATER LEAK

Last week, State of MN and Xcel Energy officials released information to the public about a water leak

By Mark Kolbinger, Contributing Writer

that was discovered in November, 2022, at the Monticello Nuclear Power Plant. A broken pipe between the reactor and turbine buildings, which are located just one-half of an inch apart, had led to the accidental discharge of approximately 400,000 gallons of tritium tainted (tritiated) water into the ground.

The leak was discovered through a positive result for tritium in a monitoring well at the facility, and Xcel officials immediately informed the State of MN, as well as the United States Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) of that test result.

"The day we found the tritium we made the report to the NRC and to the state," Chris Clark, Xcel Energy President of MN and the Dakotas, told the Patriot in an interview Tuesday afternoon. "Our focus then turned to finding the leak and containing the water coming out of that leak."

Clark said it took some time to isolate the source of the leak, since it was located in such a narrow channel between the two buildings. Once the break was located, the water was diverted from the pipe to stop the discharge and the work on remediation began.

"Working with ground water experts and our hydrologists, we tried to figure out the best way to retrieve that water, and we ended up using a pumping strategy," Clark said. "We are pumping from four different wells."

The effort appears to be working, as both Xcel and officials from the NRC report that the plume of tritiated water has been contained to the site.

Xcel Manager of Environmental Services Pat Flowers noted that immediately upon the first notification of the leak, the routine water testing at the plant determined that it was an isolated incident.

"With our monitoring well network and the way we sampled it, we knew right away this (tritium) had stayed on site,"

THE MONTICELLO NUCLEAR PLANT had an accidental discharge of around 400,000 gallons of tritium water into the ground adjacent to the Mississippi River. (Photo generated from Google maps).

Flowers said. "The way the wells are set up, there was one central well that had this indication. All the wells that surrounded it and buffered it from the river all came back with nothing in them."

A statement provided to the Patriot from the NRC supports Xcel's version of the initial report of the event.

"The information about the tritiated leak at Monticello was publicly available — Xcel reported the leak to the State of Minnesota and to the NRC on November 22," said US NRC Region

III Sr. Public Affairs Officer Viktoria Mitlyng. "The leak did not compromise plant or public safety. It did not exceed NRC limits and did not violate NRC requirements. While NRC inspectors at the site and

"We had such a successful Community Fair last Saturday, March 18th at Big Lake High School," exclaimed Gloria Vande Brake, Executive Director of Big Lake Chamber of Commerce & Industry. "1,274 people attended the Fair, a 37% increase over last year and a record attendance since 2017 when we had 1,234.

Vande Brake was also thrilled in the amount of vendors at this year's event.

"We also had 53 exhibitors, a 26% increase over last year. Farmers Market also had 24 vendors in the atrium and hallways," noted Vande Brake.

Area citizens and families were able to watch entertainers while they enjoyed free food from Coborn's in the cafeteria. BLHS Jazz Band, Folklorico Rosa Quetzal, Evolution Tae Kwon Do and Starz Dance shared their skills.

this year at the Clearwater Legion. The public was invited to come in, eat some chili, and vote for their favorite.

Entries from Clearwater, Maple Lake, and Hopkins were lined up by 12 p.m. when the event opened for taste testing and voting. Two entries from each organization were allowed in the competition, and there were extra chilis waiting for the all-you-can-eat portion of the event that took place after voting ended.

Once votes were tabulated, Clearwater's Gary Grant took home first place, second place went to Hopkin's Matt Berens, and third to Maple Lake's Clay Erlandson.

A Shining Example

A few weeks ago, my family and I had to say our final goodbyes to my older sister, Cheryl as she passed away unexpectedly on Feb. 28. She was 73.

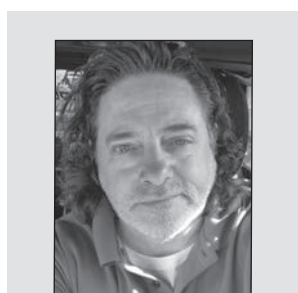

Cheryl had been enjoying her final day on earth spending time with her husband, Mark as they closed out the weekend. The night before, Cheryl had gone out for “Ladies’ Night” with her two adult daughters — with nobody knowing she was just hours away from leaving this earth.

The following day, Cheryl complained to Mark of a massive headache. Later on, she was subject to vomiting and nausea. Not atypical for Cheryl as she complained frequently of nagging headaches. Mark told us family members that after she went to lay down he returned to find her unresponsive.

Brain aneurysm. By the time she was ushered to the emergency room at Mercy Hospital, efforts to bring her back to life were futile. They immediately did a brain scan and discovered her brain was bleeding and doctors informed Mark there was little they could do. She was not coming back.

I woke from my slumber that Tuesday morning at around 1-ish as I heard a chirping I associated with my clock alarm. As the chirping continued, I suddenly realized it was my phone making the noise so I began searching for it in the dark. Sure enough, as I lifted the device off the shelf, I caught a glimpse of my sister Colleen’s name on the screen. I wasn’t able to answer it quickly enough, but I knew this didn’t mean she had good news to share.

Moments later as I roused myself from slumber, I saw a voicemail from her

By Bill Morgan, Editor/Writer

and played it in my ear. I was aghast. I quickly jumped out of bed and headed to Coon Rapids as quickly as I could.

As my family gathered around Cheryl in the ER, where she was hooked up to machines to keep her alive, several brothers, sisters, neices and nephews stopped by to pay their final respects to the second oldest in our family.

I had last seen my sister on Super Bowl Sunday at my brother’s house where she constantly tried to slip a wad of cash into my hands to “help out with my bills or groceries,” she told me. I rejected the offer and told her I was doing just fine, yet she persisted a few more times before she gave up and we all headed home.

Two days after she passed, I went to put on my coat and noticed something bulging from a pocket. I reached in and sure enough, there was that wad of money.

Typical Cheryl. Always thinking of others.

She was a mother of three and had several grandkids that adored her. Her absence from this world will be hard to fathom, but her spirit will reign on in all of us moving forward.

Don’t forget to tell your loved ones how much they loved you.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Governor Walz is saying we have lowered the number of unemployed and created more jobs. Now there are fewer people employed in Minnesota than before COVID. We need to make the Democrats tell the truth, not slanted facts. 20,000 tax-paying Minnesotans have moved to other states with their tax revenue. Before the election in 2022 MN candidates, most Democrats and all Republicans, said they would give back excess money to the TAXPAYERS. In 2023, the Democrats and agencies headed by Walz’s appointees propose to raise fees on cars, fishing, boat registrations, and state parks and to lower taxes and eliminate tax for Social Security for low-income citizens and non-TAXPAYERS. What happened to giving the money back to the TAXPAYERS so we can grow the economy of MN? With bipartisan support and the governor’s support, the 2022 Minnesota Senate passed bills to eliminate the tax on Social Security and lower everyone’s MN taxes, the Democrat-controlled House refused to bring the bills up.

TO THE EDITOR:

My wife and I really enjoyed following the Becker Girls Basketball season. We watched them easily beat three conference opponents. Then we seen them win three exciting contests against city schools, with one being a win against the Class 3A champions, Benilde-St. Margaret, 84-78. We appreciated the high school giving us senior citizens a break with no cost for the games. We were happy to pay for the two regional playoff wins that put them in the state tournament. The first we cheered them on to a semi-final win over my school I attended, the Princeton Tigers and then Murt’s school, the Monticello Magic. In the state quarter-finals, I watched a friend who hooked his computer to the TV to watch the win over Marshall, then my wife and I saw the heart-break loss to Stewartville, 60-59. They came back to take third place on a

Fleeing Minnesota

Remember the “Fleeing of America” series that ran for years on “NBC Nightly News” and exposed “alleged” waste of taxpayer money at the hands of government agencies and officials?

A Minnesota re-boot could be in order with all the material that’s available these days. Just a few suggestions:

Feeding our Future Scam

We could start “Fleeing Minnesota” with the Feeding our Future scam, where recently charges were filed against 10 more suspects. According to one report:

“At a news conference, U.S. Attorney for the Minnesota District Andrew Luger told reporters 60 people are now charged in the scheme he says siphoned more than $250 million intended to feed underserved children during the pandemic. Of that, Luger says authorities have seized more than $66 million in property, bank accounts, real estate and vehicles, which alone account for $4 million. ...

“Luger said like those previously charged, the new defendants used the money siphoned via the scheme to buy property, real estate, and luxury vehicles, and in one case a defendant made a down-payment on an airplane that was delivered to Kenya. Another allegedly bought a laundromat for the purpose of laundering money.”

Couple of things: I wonder how much “more than” $250 million of taxpayer money was stolen under lax government oversight. Also, they really bought a laundromat for the purpose of laundering money? Sounds like something out of Ozark.

$500 Million Renovation

Last December, Democrats approved a plan to spend nearly $500 million on the renovation and expansion of the State Office Building (office space for House members and others across the street from the Capitol). Since then, lawmakers and the public have received few details on this half billion-dollar monument to politicians in St. Paul. However, it is our understanding that the planning process continues behind the scenes with designs and cost estimates exchanged between affected entities on a regular basis.

In other words: Minnesota Democrats want to spend $500 million on luxury offices for politicians in St. Paul and they don’t want you to know about it. I’m demanding answers and we’ll vote to defund this wasteful monument to politicians. I co-signed a letter to legislative leaders asking some questions, such as:

What is the current status and total cost of the SOB renovation and expansion project?

Are the most recent planning, design and cost documents available for public review?

Democrats may already have spent the money to conduct this massive renovation but, with a project of this magnitude and cost to taxpayers, at the very least Minnesotans deserve full transparency.

Light Rail Boondoggle

A scathing report the Minnesota Legislative Auditor’s office recently released highlighted how the Metropolitan Council was not transparent on costs and didn’t hold its construction contractor accountable on the Southwest Light Rail project that is experiencing serious overruns in time and money. From a report:

“The project is a billion dollars over budget — more than double at this point — and has been a concern with lawmakers. It was supposed to be done by 2018 for $1.25 billion, and now it sits at $2.74 billion and is scheduled to be finished in 2027.”

There’s also this little nugget, which you may want to read a couple of times because it’s so unbelievable:

“The audit also states the Metropolitan Council was obligated to spend additional funds on the project for increased costs than what had already been committed because it didn’t have enough money to finish or halt the project.”

Individually, each of these “Fleeing of Minnesota” taxpayers is unacceptable. Together, they represent a systemic problem where a lack of accountability, absent transparency and maybe even willful ignorance have left taxpayer dollars vulnerable.

Legislators and citizens alike must demand answers and deserve better from their government.

BL Twp. holds Annual Meeting

Last week, Big Lake Twp. held their 2023 annual meeting.

By Kae Yoder, Contributing Writer
production@patriotnewsnmn.com

Twp. resident John Norgren was elected the moderator and after Norgren was elected, Clerk Brenda Kimberly-Maas called for approval of the minutes from March 8, 2022's annual meeting and the reconvened meeting of September 14.

SWPPP

Kimberly-Maas continued the meeting by discussing the Stormwater pollution prevention program, SWPPP, that was required to develop, implement and enforce the discharge of pollutants, protect water quality and satisfy the appropriate water quality requirements of the Clean Water Act. It was a mandated plan that was approved in 2021 and will stay in effect through the year 2025. MPCA annual reports were sent in annually to make sure the SWPPP was being used properly, however Kimberly-Maas explained that annual submissions are no longer required. The SWPPP documentation is available for public review at the clerk's office during regular business hours.

Yearly Report

The population in the township rose to 8,489, and nine new homes were built. Tax rate decreased from the previous year, and Kimberly-Maas went into where those tax dollars went. Improvements were done at the Bailey Station Cemetery, $917,000 was used in overlays, there were road repairs, brushing and trimming of the landscape, and the snow and ice work was over budget last year. The Twp. had park projects, the trail in the park was replaced with new granite that held even in the rain, the playground floor received a new bed of wood-chips, and the roofs in the park that were covered in hail damage were replaced. New carpet was placed in the town hall office and the town hall was painted. The township went back to having three voting precincts. The Twp. was thinking about adding a pickle ball court where the northeast parking lot sits, and there was mention of a hearing aid project coming up. Five miles of overlays are planned for this year.

Treasurer's Report

Ken Warneke went over the previous year's expenditures, and brought up the town board acting as board of audit. Spending on snow and ice was over budget even with increased funds, due to the wintery excess. The cemetery improvements caused the spending to be higher than usual, though Warneke expressed that the investment in a new columbarium was a good idea considering how many more people are choosing to be cremated. There was also $7,000 per mile for road maintenance expenses. The book of expenditures is open for inspection and a notice can be found on the bulletin board year round.

2024 Levy

Warneke went into the proposed levy for 2024, 2,393,000. It would be a drop of nine percent from the previous year's levy. There is the anticipation of tax capacity increasing while there may be a tax rate decrease. Warneke recommended that the meeting be recessed and the levy be accepted in September, in hope that there will be more funding from the state. Warneke may have to rework some of the numbers over the summer. The levy was approved by the residents, and they approved recessing until September 13 at 6 p.m.

Open Forum

Ed (last name not stated), a resident who was present at the meeting, asked about road projects coming up. He expressed how when he first bought his home, he was under the impression it would be a cul-de-sac, however the road became wider which increased traffic. He requested that the road be brought up to higher standards. Warneke was empathic and explained that there is a spring and fall road tour, in which all township roads are reviewed. Ed asked about what snow plowing contract the Twp. currently had. The Twp. is currently in year two of a three year contract with a company. He had some ideas for snow plowing that he decided to table for a latter date. No one else had anything to add, so the meeting was adjourned.

Other Business

- The budget included $1000 used for recognition of volunteers or for town staff, it was approved by the residents.
- The 2024 Annual meeting will be held March 12 at 6 p.m.

2022 Delinquent Tax List

DELINQUENT TAX LIST				Names of Owners, Taxpayers & Interested Parties	Description of Property	Tax Year	Total Tax + Penalties
The following table contains a list of Real Property located in Sherburne County on which taxes and penalties became delinquent on January 2, 2023. County cost and interest calculated from January 1, 2023 are included in the amounts listed below, and must be paid along with the total tax and penalties in order for a parcel of Real Property to be removed from the delinquent tax list.
Individuals that own homestead property, and are in the federal active military or other qualified duty service, are eligible for a four month grace period during which no penalties will be assessed for late payment of property taxes. Qualified taxpayers appearing in the delinquent tax list that have not applied may do so by providing a signed copy of their service orders or form DD214 that proves that the taxpayer was on active service on the date the payment was due. To file, determine eligibility, or for more information, contact your county Auditor Treasurer's office at 763-765-4350.

Orrock approves new town hall

The Orrock Annual Meeting was very productive, as the assembled electorate approved a tax levy heavily damaged by hail last summer. This is also a project on which the board has been working for about ten years. The board hoped to use ARPA funding for the project as well, and the funds need to be committed by 2024.

for 2024 and approved the demolition of the old town hall building and the construction of a new building.

Boaz Erickson was elected as the meeting moderator for the evening. He efficiently lead the assembled electorate through the first few agenda items, including the financial report, the fire departments report, and the overview of 2022.

The hot button item on the agenda for the evening was what to do regarding a new town hall building. Last year, the electorate directed the board to seek bids to expand the current town hall building, but the bids for work came in far higher than the board hoped, and so the project was pushed off for another year. During that time, the building committee continued to investigate a solution to their need for a new town hall, and found that the most cost effective option would be to simply demolish the current building and build a new town hall.

The electorate asked the building committee why they needed a new town hall building. The committee members explained how elections could not be conducted well in their current small building, and that the longer they continued to use the old building (which was built in the 1950s) the more problems they expected to encounter. Already, the board was forced to replace the septic tank after a crack was discovered, and the siding was

To conclude the evening, the electorate approved the tax levy at $1.12 million, which is an increase of about 3.7% over last year. Moderator Erickson noted that this was about half the rate of inflation, and commended the township on being reasonable in their tax increases. Supervisor Gary Goldsmith also noted that with new development happening in the township, the costs should be absorbed by new taxpayers, and current residents should see very little change in their taxes towards Orrock over last year.

NEWSPAPER INDUSTRY IS QUICKLY EVOLVING

According to data from the Newspaper Association of America (NAA), trends reflect that the print industry is evolving its business model in significant ways. Some of these ways include connecting with developments in technology, tapping into consumer behavior, understanding advertiser interest, and more in order to grow audiences and diversify its revenue stream.

During the Big Lake City Council meeting on March 8, Jeff Zierdt, owner of Lupulin Brewing, presented BLFD Chief Seth Hansen with a check for $2,500. This money was raised during October in honor of fire prevention

Antidegradation Review

As the wastewater department was looking to the future to plan for the expected needs of the city, it was found that the city will likely surpass capacity. The flow projects are three times higher than the current flow rate at the wastewater treatment facility currently. It is anticipated to cause issues because it will require greater effort to clean the wastewater of contaminants such as phosphorus. Simply put, the wastewater treatment facility is not able to remove contaminants to the extent currently required at the flow rate they expect to have in the future.

Staff recommended that council authorize an antidegradation review. This will allow the state to determine if it's appropriate to hold the city to more manageable limits on the contaminants. If determined appropriate, the city would no longer be held to as high a standard when it comes to removing phosphorus and other contaminants from the wastewater during the treatment process.

The cost to perform the review was $26,000, but staff anticipated an additional cost of $4-$8 million towards the new wastewater project (this is outlined as a capital improvement project in the future for Big Lake) if the city were to continue to be held to their current treatment standards.

Ladder Truck Purchase

Chief Hansen approached the council to ask for approval to purchase a new ladder truck for the BLFD. Council had previously discussed the project during their workshop and had decided it was a good purchase for the city. In addition, Big Lake Township, the joint owner of the fire department, approved their part of the purchase in a meeting earlier in the month.

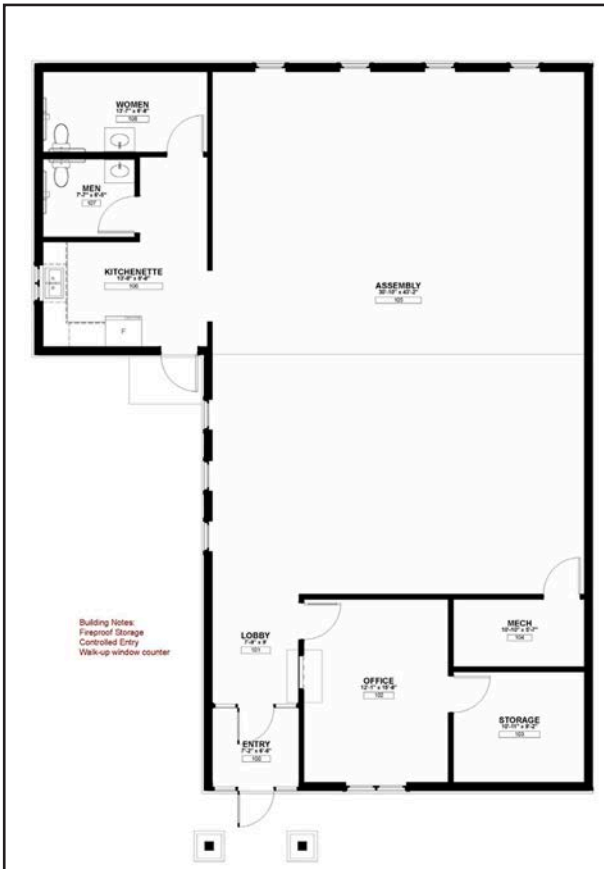

Council Member Ken Halverson noted that there was a discount of $22,474 on the project should the city choose to pay at least 90 days in advance. The township opted not to do this, due to their own financial situation. However, Halverson wished, on the advice of Finance Director Deb Wegeleben, to pay the entire cost of the truck 90 days in advance so the city could make use of the savings, and have the township pay the city back their portion upon delivery of the truck. The rest of the council agreed to do this.

Department Reports

Some highlights from the department reports included the following:

- Engineering noted that the 2022 streets projects would be resuming on the north side of the lakes, and that construction would begin on Co. Rd. 43 in late summer;
- The student liaison noted a successful Sno Daze week and literacy night.

County okays $235k in ARPA funding

The Sherburne County Board Tuesday approved over $235,000 in bi-weekly ARPA requests.

By Ken Francis, Contributing Writer
production@patriotnewsnm.com

The largest amount, $128,062, will help fund two new county attorney positions. Assistant Administrator Dan Weber said both positions were included in the 2023 budget at one-third funding. ARPA will cover the other two-thirds in 2023 and one-third in 2024, with the total cost being covered by the county in 2025.

The other ARPA expense in the county attorney’s office is $46,200 as reimbursement to cover the cost of a retainer agreement with outside counsel that was necessary because of a backlog caused partly by the resignation of an experienced county attorney.

The board approved the purchase of two Frontier front-mount snowblowers and two Zuidberg 3-point tractor mounting brackets for public works at a cost of $101,138 using ARPA dollars. Public Works Director Andrew Witter said maintenance crew must drive in reverse to use the rear-mount snowblowers currently in use, which is difficult at intersections and roundabouts.

They also approved the purchase of a Loadrite 3180 scale at $10,270 to replace the current scale that is 20 years old and not operational. The scale is used to determine salt and sand usage in the winter and it is used to weigh gravel and other materials to make sure the trucks do not exceed allowable weight capacity.

Govt. Center Project

The board approved the replacement of the south portions of asphalt of the Government Center Campus by Metro Paving at a cost not to exceed $61,000. During the summer of 2022, 17,700 square feet of pavement was milled off and overlaid. This summer’s project would consist of milling 27,500 square feet of asphalt and applying an overlay. In the summer of 2024, the remaining 22,000 s.f. would be scheduled for replacement.

Park Donation

The board accepted a donation of $7,800 from former Sherburne Soil & Water Conservation District conservationist Bill Bronder to assist with costs to develop the recently acquired Big Elk Lake land as a nature-based park that protects cultural resources

Mental Health Grant

The board approved a Children’s Mental Health Respite Grant amendment, extending the grant to Dec. 31, 2023 and increasing the grant amount by $20,602 to a new total of $82,625. The funding provides for planned and/or emergency children’s mental health respite care for eligible children and families.

Equipment Donation

The board approved the donation of two pieces of outdated lab equipment no longer needed by the Sheriff’s Offices to the Law Enforcement Program at Alexandria Community College. The equipment is a superglue fume station used to recover/enhance fingerprints, and a fingerprint station that includes a light and fan.

Other Business

In other actions the board:

- Approved entering into a membership agreement in HGACBuy’s Cooperative Purchasing Program, a nationwide cooperative which acts as the designated agent for county purchasing contracts;
- Approved the Working Capital Cash Flow in the amount of 21,547,434.79, with the amount to be shown in the financial statements as Unassigned Fund Balance;
- Approved Joint Powers Agreements with the State of Minnesota, Department of Public Safety, and Bureau of Criminal Apprehension to use systems and tools available over the state’s criminal justice data communications network for which the county is eligible;
- Approved an agreement with Baldwin Twp. for Information Technology consulting services at a rate of $80 per hour;
- Approved a professional services agreement with MJS Dirtworks for property clean-up at the Big Elk Lake Park Land in the amount of $38,209.96. The scope of work includes selective tree removal to allow equipment access, erosion control, removal and sorting of solid waste materials, grading and soil stabilization;

- Approved an agreement between the county and MnDOT for lighting at intersections of Hwy. 25 at Co. Rd. 3, Co. Rd. 16 and Co. Rd. 48;
- Appointed Commissioners Gregg Felber and Gary Gray to the Energy Transition Committee, and Commissioners Raeanne Danielowski and Andrew Hulse to the Elections Committee;
- Approved the re-appointment of Mitch Glines as County Agricultural Inspector and approved his proposed 2023 workplan;
- Approved an agreement with Houston Engineering to provide groundwater sampling at select wells at Vonco, Vonco II, Becker Ash Landfill and Elk River Landfill in an amount not to exceed $12,500;
- Proclaimed March 2023 as Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month in Sherburne County.

New expanded seating now at the Clearwater Rodeo

Visitors to this summer’s 43rd Annual 2023 Clearwater Rodeo will be greeted with a pleasant surprise. More seating!

By Penny Leuthard, Contributing Writer
production@patriotnewsnm.com

Always keeping an eye out for things that will benefit the club and community, the Silver Bullet Saddle Club (SBSC), home of the rodeo, won the new bleachers off an online auction site. The section they were fortunate enough to get was 82’ long, which they cut in half to create two 42’ sections. The new bleachers are each 15 rows higher than the current ones, enough to provide seating for 400 to 500 more spectators.

The new bleachers allow the club to be more self-sufficient, as in the past they’ve had to rent additional bleachers for the three-day event. The ones currently at the grounds don’t provide enough seating for all the spectators wanting to enjoy the rodeo.

Local businesses stepped up to help make the new additions a reality. The bleachers were in Nebraska; Anderson Trucking Service was hauling a load in that direction and was able to pick them up on their trip back to Minnesota.

Schendzielos Excavating brought in a skid loader to help unload the bleachers and will be doing the dirt work necessary before they can be set in place at the rodeo grounds. The current bleachers will need to be repositioned as well.

SBSC members brought skid loaders and took time off to help with the unloading as well, President Jesse Andreoff, JSA Services, Board Member Larry Carlson, Larry Carlson Trucking, and Vice President Jeremy Scott, Lawn Rangers LLC.

The club will be making some modifications to their new bleachers before the season starts, including adding a safety rail to each side.

Extra thanks was extended to the community for their continued support and to both the Clear Lake and Clearwater Lions for their generous donations.

To further benefit rodeo visitors, SBSC is considering the possibility of adding a shuttle service to help alleviate parking difficulties at the grounds.

The Silver Bullet Saddle Club is a non-profit, community oriented organization whose members of all ages are dedicated to the education of equine activities and encouraging the humane treatment of all animals. The club prides itself on its family-friendly atmosphere and community involvement.

SBSC is always looking for new members and stress that ownership of a horse isn’t required. Although their largest event is the three-day annual Clearwater Rodeo, the club participates in various parades and other activities throughout the spring and summer and is also home to the ‘Chaos in Clearwater’ demolition derby. Becker Twp. to take over permitting, inspections and zoning reviews

The Becker Town Board met Monday evening and took action to assume control of zoning

By Mark Kolbinger, Contributing Writer
production@patriotnewsnm.com

review and the issuance of building permits within the Township.

For several years, the City of Becker had issued permits on behalf of the township and also performed the planning and zoning reviews.

Recently, the city decided to hire its own building inspector and as part of that process had offered the township two options: the township could appoint the city building official, Mark Lucht, to perform the same duties or they could contract on their own for those services with an outside agency (currently Metro West). Both options assumed the city would continue to review the permits for planning and zoning under the current agreement.

The Township Supervisors adopted a resolution, however, that not only reflected their desire to take over the issuance of permits and inspections, but would also task the township with doing their own planning and zoning reviews.

One of the issues

brought forward by the township is that the city official does not have the licensure for septic system review and inspection, something that would have to be contracted to an outside agency should the city continue its work in the current model.

While the township signaled its intent to take over its own planning and zoning services, they did note that activities of the Joint Planning Board would continue.

City of Becker Community Development Director Jacob Sanders responded to the township’s resolution by suggesting that this action would necessitate a conversation in the future to review all of the cooperative planning and zoning processes currently shared by the two entities, including those of the Joint Planning Board.

With the resolution, the township triggered a 30 day “out-clause” meaning that starting later next month, township residents would go to the Town Hall to seek their permits.

Fire Hall

The board also took action to approve a purchase price of $15,001 for the Old Fire Hall, the current home to the Becker American Legion. The price of the building and land was $1, while the township agreed to pay the city $15,000 for a triangular piece of property behind the Town Hall (current parking area) that has the access to Second Street. Current plans call for the Legion to continue to operate out of the building.

In Other Business, the Board:

- Heard from Sgt. Dan Frank regarding last month’s 119 calls for service, including 45 traffic stops;
- Referred a variance request from resident Aaron Jurek back to Planning and Zoning for additional options;
- Heard from Engineer Wes Davis that the 97th St. project is moving forward with bids expected to be let in May;
- Received report from Davis that the annual cost of assuming township control of Co. Rd. 93 would be $2,000 for maintenance costs (not including mowing and plowing), while capital expenditures for the eventual re-construction of the road could equal approximately $10,000 a year.

The board will meet next for the Local Board of Appeal and Equalization on April 11 at 6 p.m.

The Black Skimmer

When it comes to birds, it is all about the bill. Ya, you know, the bill or beak. The bill of a bird is what really makes the birds unique. It was Darwin who noticed that the finches he saw on the Galapagos Islands in 1831-36 had different shaped and sized bills that corresponded with the diet of each bird. Nearly two hundred years later, we still use the size and shape of a bird's bill/beak as a way to group or classify birds.

All of this was rushing through my head one day while I stood in shin deep salt water off the coast of Florida. While leading a photo tour to capture images of birds in the sunshine state, we had stopped at a wonderful beach that had several very large tidal pools. These tide pools are isolated pockets of seawater found in the ocean's intertidal zone. When the tide comes in the pools fill and recharge with lots of ocean critters such as Starfish (now called Sea Stars) and small fish, crustaceans and so much more. When the tide goes out, the pool drains.

I am always attracted to tidal pools because they draw so much wildlife. So, we were walking around in ankle deep water enjoying the sunshine and warm temperatures hoping to capture some images of some birds. In particular we were hoping to see some black skimmers (Rynchops nigra).

The black skimmer is a tern-like seabird with an incredibly large, red and black bill that is as thin as a knife blade. They are closely related to terns and gulls but are in their own genus. In addition, the lower bill is significantly longer than the upper bill. This would be exactly opposite of all other birds. In general, the upper bill is almost always larger than the lower bill in other birds.

These are large birds with nearly a four-foot wingspan and are about 20 inches from head to tail. The males are noticeably larger than the females. You never see just one black skimmer by itself. They are always flying in flocks or resting on the beach in small groups. They also nest in small colonies of dozens of pairs. It is estimated the population of black skimmers is 90,000 to 100,000 in the U.S. and the population has been decreasing over the past 50 years as it has for so many other birds.

But it's the bill on this bird that is so remarkable

By Naturalist

and worth spending some time addressing. The black skimmer's bill is three to four inches long. While having a long bill isn't uncommon in the bird world, it is the narrowness of the bill that is so astounding. Once you see how these birds hunt for small fish, you will realize why the lower bill is longer than the upper bill and why the bill is as narrow as a knife.

To catch small fish, the black skimmer flies just above the water surface and using its long narrow lower bill, it "skims" the water. The long lower bill slices through the water as the bird is flying. When the bird comes in contact with a fish the lower bill snaps shut, and the bird has its dinner. If they had a normal sized and width bill this kind of high speed "fishing" wouldn't be possible.

We spent three days wondering around the tide pools hoping some black skimmers would show up. We had nearly given up when late in the evening, just before sunset, a small group of less than 10 skimmers showed up. They were flying low across the tide pool and heading for a shallow sandbar, to join many other shorebirds that were settling in for the night when we spotted the skimmers.

Luckily a few of the skimmers started fishing and we were able to capture just a few images of these amazing birds "skimming" right before the sunset and before they settled in for the night. So next time you see a bird try to note the size and shape of the bird's bill. It is the key to how they feed and ultimately survive. Until next time...

specialists in the area of health physics continue to closely monitor the plant's actions to identify, stop and remediate the leak, they continue to conclude that the leak did not pose a threat to the plant or the public."

A review of the NRC's website reflects the initial report, indicating "On 11/22/2022, Monticello Nuclear Generating Plant initiated a voluntary communication to the State of Minnesota after receiving analysis results for an on-site monitoring well that indicated tritium activity." reads part of the report. "The source of the tritium is under investigation and the station will continue to monitor and sample accordingly — there was no impact on the health and safety of the public or plant personnel."

What the initial report did not detail, however, was the amount of the water leak — something not required by law. That, and the optics of a public information release nearly four months after the event, is what has led to some critics voicing concern about the reporting of the incident.

"Withholding information about a substantial leak from a nuclear plant has the appearance of a strategy to avoid public embarrassment," Dr. Larry Jacobs, Professor at the U of MN's Humphrey School of Public Affairs, shared via an emailed statement to the Patriot. "The public has a right to know if their environment has experienced the leak, invite outside experts, and draw their own conclusions."

Environmental groups have also voiced their displeasure with the timing of the public notification.

"Nuclear energy is an energy source with known safety risks," said Margaret Levin, State Director for the Sierra Club North Star Chapter. "Until we replace our reliance on nuclear power with clean, renewable energy, communities have a right to expect full and timely information about potential health threats. We expect better from Xcel and the state of Minnesota, including updates on the situation moving forward."

Clark said that he understands how people hear the news of a leak at a nuclear plant and get worried, yet he maintains that the incident has not put the general public in danger. He also said Xcel is reviewing its response to the situation.

"The more we worked with the state agencies and we were sharing our data . . . we were having a little more communication with some of the local officials in Monticello," Clark said. "Both the state agencies and Monticello encouraged us to go ahead and provide more information to the public. When they made that request, then we did. As a company, that's one of the things we're taking a very close look at here. We know we have a plant with multiple layers of systems to protect our workers, to protect the community, and that what we do there is extremely safe. We're going to take a very careful look at what we did here and find places where we can share information in a better way that maybe provides an even greater level of transparency for our neighbors."

Editor's note: The Patriot reached out last week to the MN Pollution Control Agency with a request for specific comments for this article, but they did not provide answers to our questions by our stated Tuesday evening editorial deadline.

Public Officials Respond to Xcel Water Leak

Over the past week, the Patriot reached out to local officials for their responses to last week's public information release about the November 2022 tritiated water leak at Xcel's Monticello Nuclear Plant.

Representative Shane Mekeland and Senator Andrew Mathews provided a joint statement saying they are "monitoring the situation and trying to gather more facts and information."

In addition, they said "the evidence appears to show that the leak has not escaped Xcel's property, and the Department of Health has said that there is no evidence of any threat to the public."

Both legislators encouraged their constituents to reach out with any questions, as they will continue to seek answers from Xcel and the Department of Health. They also noted that there is a great deal of information about tritium posted on the NRC website.

Clearwater Township Supervisor and Sierra Club Member Rose Thelen responded with concern, saying "the lack of timely public notification — with Xcel Energy and Minnesota state agencies waiting almost four months to share any information with the community — raises important questions about oversight and transparency."

Monticello Mayor Lloyd Hilgart noted that the city learned about the extent of the water leak at the end of February 2023 and "since then, we have been working with Xcel and state and federal regulating agencies to understand the scope of the event, remediation, and any community impact. We have been and will continue to gather information to responsibly inform our community and have been requesting information be shared."

that his city was not notified of the leak and learned about it by reading reports in the media.

He said that the city's closest well is over three and a half miles upstream from the Nuclear Plant, and based on the information they currently have, there is no concern of the tritium traveling to the city water source.

"We have not been advised by the MN Department of Health to do any additional testing," Lerud stated.

Senator Bruce Anderson noted "the tritium leak in Monticello is being actively monitored by our state agencies. To date, it appears the leak has not gone beyond Xcel's facility. We have learned that Xcel Energy notified the Federal and State authorities immediately and identified and fixed the leak. The MN Department of Health has said that there is no evidence of any threat to the public. As my fellow legislators and I work to gather additional information, I invite my constituents to contact my office with any questions they may have."

Meanwhile, Representative Marion O'Neill responded to our request with this statement: "I think that truth and facts are what is most important. I have read outrageous and wildly inaccurate claims made by uninformed citizens on social media regarding the spill. I suggest that you report the facts about the leak."

The Patriot will continue its reporting as needed in the coming weeks as more information becomes available.

Brunns recognized by BASC

Tuesday, Carol and Jerry Brunn were recognized for their years of service with the Becker Area Senior Center

By Katherine Cantin, Staff Writer
reporter.katie@patriotnewsmn.com

(BASC). Jerry had just finished his term as treasurer of the organization, and Carol, a member of the original founding committee, finished her term on the board last year.

Pat Throlson, another member of BASC, introduced the two and voiced her appreciation for their efforts on behalf of the group.

The two were each presented with certificates of appreciation for their work, and the couple also took home a paper flower bouquet (because they would never wilt and could be set out whenever they liked) and an additional gift.

Other BASC News

After the Brunns were acknowledged, the two BASC members with March birthdays were appreciated, as the group sang their happy birthday.

While not affiliated with BASC, Throlson also noted that the Lions Club would be putting on an Easter Bunny Breakfast Saturday, April 1. The breakfast will take place at the Becker Community Center gymnasium from 9 a.m.-11 a.m. The cost will be five dollars per individual or $20 per family.

UMN Extensions offers free soil testing

(Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by the University of Minnesota Extension.)

Submitted Article

The University of Minnesota Extension is offering free soil health tests in high tunnels and fields to 100 vegetable farmers across the state. The goal is to learn more about the state of soils on small to medium-scale vegetable farms (less than 1 acre to 50 acres) to develop better educational programming in the future.

Participants will receive complimentary soil tests that include a primary soil series (texture, organic matter, pH, phosphorus, potassium), exchangeable Ca, Mg, Na, and K, electrical conductivity, and nitrate. The University of Minnesota will conduct various soil health tests at each farm, including bulk density, aggregate stability, a count of arbuscular mycorrhizal fungi (AMF), and active organic matter. They will also take a water sample from each farm to test for pH and alkalinity. Anthony Adams, local extension educator, will perform testing.

These are free tests and farm-specific data will not be publicly shared. All data generated from this project will be aggregated, so each farm will be one data point among 100 farms.

Participation is 100% voluntary. Participants will not be paid, but will receive $135 worth of soil analyses. Participants will also receive complimentary 1:1 feedback on their soil tests. All testing will occur during the second half of April 2023.

Those interested in participating can sign up here: z.umn.edu/Soiltest23

Funds for testing and analysis are being provided through a grant from the University of Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station's Rapid Response Fund. Signing up does not guarantee soil testing since there may be more than 100 requests.

Please reach out to Natalie Hoidal with questions: Hoida016@umn.edu or your local Extension office. Residents in Quad Counties (Stearns, Benton, Morrison, or Sherburne) may call 320-255-6169 or 320- 632-0161 or email AnthonyA@umn.edu.

Xcel files for relay line

Xcel Energy applied for a Certificate of Need earlier this month to build a transmission line that will link at least 2,000 megawatts of new renewable energy to the grid — enough to power more than 1 million homes per year.

The proposed Minnesota Energy Connection transmission line will connect to new low-cost wind and solar energy that will replace the electricity currently generated at the Sherco power plant near Becker, reusing the plant's existing grid connections to efficiently and cost-effectively provide customers with power. The project represents a major step toward the company's vision of delivering 100% carbon-free electricity in Minnesota by 2040 to meet clean energy standards established in recent legislation.

"Expanding our transmission infrastructure will pave the way for us to further reduce carbon emissions while delivering reliable and affordable electricity for our customers," said Michael Lamb, Xcel Energy's senior vice president, Transmission. The Minnesota Public Utilities Commission will now review Xcel Energy's proposal. The review process generally takes about one year and includes opportunities for input from customers, landowners and other key stakeholders.

Ongoing Route Development

While the Certificate of Need process proceeds, Xcel Energy will also be working with local officials and landowners to identify potential route options for the project, which is expected to be between 160 and 180 miles long. Recently, project leaders held several public open houses in communities located along these route options to introduce the project and ask for feedback on how those options may affect land use issues in the area. The route options generally follow existing corridors, such as roads and existing transmission lines, when possible and aim to minimize impacts to land use, agricultural operations, natural resources, cultural and historical sites, and recreational areas.

Xcel Energy expects to file a Route Permit application with the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission in the fall of 2023, with a decision expected on the final route in late 2024. If both the Certificate of Need and Route Permit applications are approved, construction could begin in late 2025 and complete in 2028. The project and associated facilities, including technology to maintain voltage stability and reliability, are expected to represent an investment of over $1 billion in valuable infrastructure for the state and region, dependent on the final configuration and route selected, including voltage support technologies.

A Special Thank You

Options, Inc. would like to thank the following individuals, organizations, and businesses for their generous contributions and sponsorships of Outside Options. Outside Options is an outdoor programming and recreation space that has flower bordering, accessible walking paths, a bocce court, native plants, and green space. Our next goal is to create areas for people to gather-featuring a gazebo, picnic tables, park benches, and raised garden planters to grow flowers and vegetables. We also hope to incorporate a sound garden into the space to provide musical and sensory activities.

If you would like to donate, you can give by check or by visiting <https://www.givemn.org/organization/Optionsinc> and clicking "Donate."

Westin buzzer-beater helps Bulldogs to 3rd place finish

Becker senior Maren Westin hit an acrobatic, buzzer-beating shot last Saturday against the Al-nuts,” Baird said. “It was a great way to end our season after a tough come-back exandria Cardinals to help the Bulldogs claim the third place trophy in the MSHSL Class AAA girls basketball tournament.

The Bulldogs arrived at the third place game after winning Wednesday’s quarterfinal game 52-43 over Marshall and then losing a heartbreaker, 60-59, to Stewartville in Thursday’s semifinals.

Westin’s heroics at the end of the third place game drew praise from Head Coach Dan Baird, whose team needed the big shot to pull off a 57-56 win.

“Ayla Brown received the inbound and dribbled the ball over half court where she fired a pass to Maren Westin outside the college three point line,” Baird said. “Maren jumped in the air to shoot but realized the defense was there to block her shot. Maren hung in the air, like only she can, then double clutched and the shot drew the back side iron before it fell through.”

Becker and Alexandria are teams quite familiar with one another, as Becker won a contest earlier in the season. That familiarity meant it came down to execution in the final game.

After the big shot, Baird noted the pandemonium in the gym.

“Our girls stormed the court and the fans went win in this game, and losing in the semifinals. The win was bittersweet as it’s the last time our FAB Five Seniors — Evelyn Kreft, Dani Nuest, Ayla Brown, Liz Mackedanz, and Maren Westin — will take the court. All five of these girls have provided amazing leadership this season and have made this a coach’s dream season to coach!”

Becker Scoring: Nuest 21, Westin 14, Brown 16, Croal 2, Kreft 4.

Quarterfinals

Westin was also an offensive leader in the 52-43 win over Marshall in the Bulldogs’ opening game of the tournament.

She scored 27 points to go with eight rebounds on a five-for-five performance from the three point line.

“Her defense was also amazing,” Baird noted. “Our team only committed six turnovers which was a season low. We held a good team to only 43 points so we were pleased with the defense.”

The Bulldogs were able to adapt their style to fit the moment, as the normally wide open offense was replaced by a more methodical approach noted by Becker not scoring a single point in transition.

Scoring: Dani Nuest 5, Maren Westin 27 (8 rebounds), Hannah Dierkes 2, Ayla Brown 7 (5 assists), Lauren Croal 6, Liz Mackedanz 6.

Semifinals

Becker’s pursuit of another state title was stymied in the semifinals with a 60-59 loss to Stewartville.

Becker played a great first half, only to see Stewartville make a run after halftime to advance to the title game.

“They came storming back to start the second half and our shots ran cold,” Baird said. “Hats off to Stewartville for making the comeback and pretty much dominating the second half.”

The game was tied with just 58 seconds left in the game, but the Bulldogs missed a couple chances to take the lead.

Dani Nuest played a great offensive game, scoring 19 points for the Bulldogs.

“Stewartville’s depth was apparent,” Baird said. “They played the better game and deserved to win as they beat us in every major statistical category.”

Scoring: Liz Mackedanz 4, Evelyn Kreft 1, Dani Nuest 19, Maren Westin 15 (4 steals), Ayla Brown 11, Hannah Dierkes 3, Lauren Croal 6.
